State Assails Marin's Mental Health Agency

A Major Overhaul Said Badly Needed

By ERIK M. INGRAM

Administration of the Marin County Mental Health Department is in disarray and in need of a major overhaul, a state review of local mental health services has shown.

The 20-page report, laced with stinging criticism, hits not only the county administration but some of those providing mental health services such as Marin General Hospital.

It was compiled by 18 investigators from the state Health Department at the request of Betty L. Presley, head of the health and human services agency which oversees mental health.

She made the request in December, five months after assuming control of the department, which for years has been rocked with internal dissension and controversy.

The state report cites poor ing the mental health program in the community.

The report, coming on the heels of similar criticism of the department by Miss Presley, says no effort has been made over the years to inform the general public of services offered.

Additionally, there has been almost no interaction between the mental health department and other departments offering services to many of the same people, it claims.

The document, which led one county official to observe that "We can't find much positive in it," will be reviewed Tuesday by county supervisors. That session could result in a showdown between those forces seeking to remove mental health from Miss Presley's new agency and those seeking to keep it there.

At the eye of the storm is Dr. Robert Taylor, head of county mental services, who said yesterday he will have a detailed response to the state report in about a month.

Taylor said some of the criticisms are new, some old and some have already been thrashed out by the board of supervisors, such as whether those private agencies providing services should be given block grants or paid on a per-patient basis.

The report basically deals with three areas: administration, programs and fiscal matters.

It was prompted by a series of funding crises between the county and agencies offering psychiatric care to indigent Medi-Cal patients.

The report says county contracts with those agencies, such as Ross and Marin General hospitals, as well as others, have been handled poorly over the years.

As a result, Marin may have to refund $100,000 to the state from local property taxes. The basis of that claim is not fully explained in the report and Miss Presley said yesterday she has requested further detail.

Apparently it stems from a practice of paying Marin General "estimated rates" for patient care instead of actual costs, as required by state law.

"Marin General Hospital is not fulfilling its contract requirements and the county appears to be afraid to enforce its contractual rights," the report goes on. "It seems the hospital influence within the county so the administrative personnel merely look the other way for fear they might 'rock the boat.'"

It says the $91 per day rate charged by Ross General "seems exceptionally high for just room and board" and recommends more use of Marin General, which has lower rates.

While stating that medical records at the two hospitals indicate services "are satisfactorily documented," it later says that discharge papers for many patients do not include the condition of the patient upon release.

"Recommendations for follow-up services either as an outpatient or a partial day-care

Kissinger Less Optimistic Than White House On Arms Accord

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger today ruled out any chance this year of reaching a final agreement with the Soviet Union to limit nuclear strategic arms. A White House spokesman was more optimistic.

Kissinger was asked about the outlook for a permanent agreement in Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (SALT) following a two-hour working breakfast with Egyptian Foreign Minister Ismail Fahmy.

"We will not have a permanent agreement this year," Kissinger said. "Whether there can be an agreement on part of it really is not clear yet. We are in the process of discussing it and we have to formulate some proposals now in response to the Soviet proposals and then we will know."

Later, at the White House, Gerald L. Warren, deputy presidential press secretary, expressed hope for further progress on a new nuclear agreement.

Warren said that based on earlier talks with Soviet officials "there is agreement between the United States and Soviet officials on the desirability of achieving further progress in this."

Warren stressed his comments did not relate to the talks today between President Nixon and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko. Kissinger also attended those talks.

"We are hopeful that there will be progress in the (SALT) negotiations," Warren said. "That is something that has been reflected to us from the (earlier) meetings the President and the secretary have had with Soviet officials."

A State Department spokesman said later Kissinger had not disclosed anything substantially new by his remarks this morning. "This was his position in the past," the spokesman said. "While he did not see a permanent or comprehensive agreement this year, there remains a possibility for a substantial agreement."

Aboard the President's plane on the flight back to Washington from Paris on Sunday, Nixon's chief of staff, Alexander M. Haig, said: "It was very clear that the Soviets and ourselves are optimistic about the outcome (of new summit talks) ... We expect positive results in the SALT area."

Kissinger had hoped to gain a

SALT breakthrough with the Soviets in a recent trip to Moscow. He had gone there to lay plans for President Nixon's expected summit trip to the Soviet capital, at which the President had hoped to conclude another phase of arms accords. The Kissinger trip was unsuccessful from the standpoint of a breakthrough although White House officials had expressed optimism as recently as last weekend about chances of progress.

The White House optimism followed a meeting between Nixon and Soviet President Nikolai Podgorny while Nixon was in Paris for a memorial service for the late French President Georges Pompidou.

Nixon Definitely To Go To Moscow For Summit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon will go to Moscow for his third summit meeting with Soviet leaders no matter whether a new strategic arms limitation agreement has been reached, Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger said today.

Kissinger made his announcement at the White House following a meeting between Nixon and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko. Kissinger, who said earlier today there was no chance for a full agreement this year, sat in on the meeting.

Nixon and Gromyko reviewed the issues that would come up at the summit meeting, Kissinger said, and "one outstanding issue that still requires solution is SALT (Strategic Arms Limitation Talks)."

But Kissinger said, "Whether or not there is a new SALT agreement, there will be a summit meeting."

The dates for the summit were discussed by Nixon and Gromyko, but Kissinger said they would not be announced until later. It is expected the visit will occur some time in June.

Since the Soviet Union and the United States are developing their weapons systems in different ways and with different types of technology, Kissinger said it is difficult to compare the systems and makes agreement difficult.

"But that does not mean that detente is in any difficulty," Kissinger said.

Tax Board Rules Nixons Owe State

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The state Franchise Tax Board said today President and Mrs. Nixon owed California $4,302 in back taxes and penalties for 1969 and 1970 and they had agreed to pay it.

The announcement on the state taxes came nine days after a congressional committee released a final staff study recommending Nixon be assessed $471,431 in federal back taxes and interest for 1969 through 1972.

The board decision, in effect, said Nixon was liable for back taxes on "California source" income.

Martin Huff, executive officer of the state tax board, said those sources of income include the sale of 21 acres of land at the President's San Clemente estate, and royalties from the book "Six Crises," which was written while Nixon was a California resident.

Huff said Nixon owed $4,107 for 1969 and $156 for 1970. A 25 per cent penalty of $39 was imposed in 1970 for "failure to file a timely return."

The board also assessed Nixon for the portion of his presidential salary and other federal fringe benefits which he earned while physically in the state of California.

"We have been advised by counsel to the taxpayers (Mr. and Mrs. Nixon) that tax returns will be prepared in accordance with our determination and a remittance liquidating the liability will be remitted promptly," Huff told a capitol news conference.

The state board had delayed making a determination on Nixon's California status until after studying the findings of the Joint Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation.

The committee, at Nixon's request, launched an examination of his tax picture in December amid simmering controversy over his real estate transactions and deductions of a $576,090 gift of his vice presidential papers to the nation.

ALFRED LAUN
Snatched in Argentina

American Diplomat Kidnaped

CORDOBA, Argentina (UPI) — Leftist guerrillas today kidnaped Alfred Laun, U.S. Embassy branch public affairs officer in this central Argentine city, police announced.

Police said they believed Laun tried to fight off his abductors and was wounded before being dragged into one of two cars with eight armed men and one woman.

The People's Revolutionary Army (ERP), an outlawed Marxist guerrilla group, took credit for the kidnaping in communiques delivered to news media.

The U.S. Embassy in Buenos Aires said it was still trying to confirm the kidnaping and had not heard from the kidnapers. The embassy gave Laun's hometown as Kiel, Wis.

A police spokesman said the kidnaping occurred at 8:30 a.m. at Laun's home in a tree-lined residential area of Unquillo, a small town 15 miles from Cordoba.

Laun, a 36-year-old bachelor, is the only U.S. embassy officer in Cordoba, a troubled industrial city 420 miles northwest of Buenos Aires.

Woman Agrees To Give Up Dogs

Florence Brown, whose many dogs triggered a wild raid by sheriff's deputies and animal control officers Wednesday, has agreed to give up all her 32 or more pets for adoption.

Robert Dollahite, general manager of the county pound at the Marin County Humane Society, said a truce and agreement on disposition of the dogs has been worked out with Mrs. Brown through her attorney, William O. Weissich.

At least six dogs still remain in the home at 31 Manzanita Avenue just outside San Rafael city limits. Dollahite said his officers will accompany Weissich to the house late today to take the last of the animals. One wild-tempered dog that bit an officer Wednesday still is skulking outside the home, afraid to go in, he reported.

The woman was to appear in Marin Municipal Court this afternoon for arraignment on a charge of obstructing an officer during the raid Wednesday.

Dollahite said 26 dogs had been taken to the pound by this morning. They are in varying stages of health and must be checked by a veterinarian before any can be offered for adoption, he reported.

A litter of puppies found in the home has been placed with a canine foster mother because their own mother is too ill with parasites to nurse the litter, he said. Some of the dogs that aren't healthy enough for adoption may be destroyed, he added.

Dr. Caroline Albrecht, county health services officer, said she has ordered that a county sani-

House Can't Force Nixon To Comply With Subpoena

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Judiciary Committee admits it is legally powerless to compel President Nixon to deliver the 41 Watergate tapes it has subpoenaed from him.

The panel's artillery in this new conflict is limited to the moral authority of the House, the weight of public opinion and the message from Republicans manifested in the bipartisan 33-3 vote by which the historic subpoena was approved yesterday.

The subpoena demands that Nixon deliver 41 tapes by 10 a.m. EDT April 25 for use as potential evidence in impeaching him and putting him on trial in the Senate.

His refusal to comply could itself become an impeachable offense, and the House is likely to treat it as one.

The White House left open the question of whether Nixon would voluntarily comply with the subpoena.

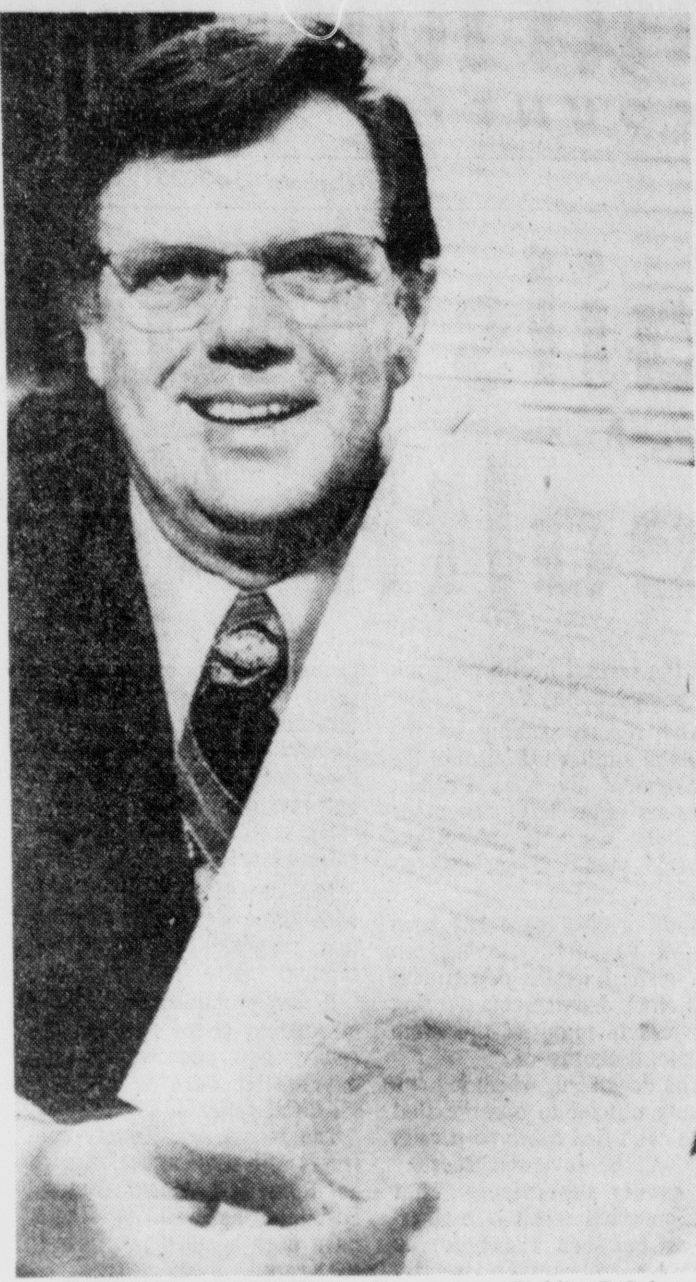

"We will answer this communication and previous ones from the committee at the end of the Easter vacation (April 22)," Ronald L. Ziegler, presidential press secretary said. "The answer we will give will be comprehensive and conclusive."

Nixon has managed through court maneuvering to avoid complying with two previous subpoenas which were issued by the Senate Watergate committee in pursuit of much of the same material.

But the House committee draws its authority to judge a president's conduct directly from the Constitution and considers itself in a stronger position than were the investigation senators last summer.

Nixon fired Archibald Cox as special prosecutor rather than comply with a subpoena from him, but subsequently complied at least partially with a subpoena from Leon Jaworski, the current special prosecutor.

A last-minute effort Thursday

HISTORICAL SUBPOENA — Rep. Jerome Waldie, D-Cal., holds the subpoena the House Judiciary Committee voted yesterday for presidential records needed for its impeachment inquiry. It was the first time the House had ever voted a subpoena on a president and only the second time a president was ever subpoenaed. Thomas Jefferson was subpoenaed by the defense during the treason trial of Aaron Burr. (UPI Telephoto) by James D. St. Clair, Nixon's Watergate lawyer, to avert a subpoena by promising to surrender some but not all of the requested tapes failed.

St. Clair's offer would have given the committee tapes of conversations between Nixon and his aides recorded in February, March and April, 1973 — the period before and after Nixon said he learned of the White House's deep involvement in Watergate. But it would have excluded conversations over five days in mid-April, 1973, involving Nixon and John D. Ehrlichman, Richard G. Kleindienst and Henry E. Petersen.

Rep. Robert McClory of Illinois, a leader among committee Republicans, failed to get St. Clair to put the offer in writing, and then dismissed it as "too equivocal and too conditional." That doomed it.

But Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., was able to achieve the near unanimity he sought by accepting without a fight a modification sought by Republicans. It made the subpoena far more specific than the first draft had been. Republicans called that draft a "blanket" subpoena.

Normally Congress enforces its subpoenas two ways. One holds the defiant party in contempt of Congress making him subject to jail for the remainder of the term of the Congress that imprisoned him.

The other asks the Justice Department to initiate court proceedings against the defiant person, making him subject to a fine of up to $1,000 and 12 months imprisonment upon conviction.

"Each of these methods presents problems," the committee staff conceded in a legal memo. "If the President refuses to comply, the practical difficulties of enforcing the subpoena may well be insurmountable," it said, adding that "noncompliance may itself be a ground for impeachment."

Campaigning Reform Bill Faces Battle

WASHINGTON (API) — Legislation to pay campaign expenses of presidential and congressional candidates with taxpayers' money has cleared the Senate. But major roadblocks to enactment are ahead.

The Senate yesterday approved a sweeping package of political reforms which not only includes federal subsidies for political campaigns but limits on candidate spending and an end to "fat cat" contributors.

But the bill faces a hazardous future in the House where there is strong hostility to federal financing of congressional races and opposition to other provisions in the comprehensive package.

Even more threatening to enactment of the bill is President Nixon's adamant opposition to the concept of public financing. His stand almost makes it certain that the bill will be vetoed.

After breaking an 11-day filibuster, the Senate voted 53-32 to approve the bill. All efforts to kill the federal financing sections of the bill were turned back, and an effort to send the package back to the Senate Rules Committee lost 52-35.

Shortly before approving the bill, the Senate attached a rider, 69-20, under which the members of Congress and all federal employees making more than $20,000 a year would have their income tax returns audited for the past five years.

The bill, which would take effect in 1976, would authorize full federal financing of general elections and matching grants for primaries; set a ceiling on the amount candidates can spend; and put tight limits on the amounts individuals or organizations can contribute to persons seeking office.

The measure allows candidates to spend a limit of 12 cents per voter in a general election and 8 cents in a primary. For a presidential candidate, that would amount to $17 million in the general election and $11.4 million in the primary.

Major party candidates for the White House and Congress could get a federal subsidy equal to the spending ceiling in the general election. But the candidates could choose to use federal funds exclusively, rely solely on private contributions, or take a mix of the two.

Minor party candidates or independent candidates receiving at least 5 per cent of the vote in the previous election would be entitled to a proportionate share of the subsidy. New party candidates could be reimbursed if they received 5 per cent of the vote.

Israelis Vowing Terror Revenge

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

The townspeople of the northern Israeli town of Qiryat Shemona buried their dead today in anger and in sorrow and with vows of revenge against Lebanon for harboring the three Arab guerrillas who massacred 18 persons yesterday.

In Beirut, Lebanese Premier Takiyeddin Solh met with envoys of the five major world powers to try to prevent any attempt by the Israeli army to strike into Lebanon against Palestinian guerrilla bases.

An Israeli punitive attack appeared probable. Caretaker Prime Minister Golda Meir said in a solemn statement yesterday: "The Lebanese government must know that we regard it and its citizens who are aiding the terrorists responsible for the massacre."

Despite the angry Israeli reaction to the attack a spokesman for the maverick guerrilla organized promised today in Beirut there would be more such attacks in the future to keep alive the struggle for the liberation of Palestine.

There were these other major Middle East developments today:

Israeli and Syrian artillery and tanks exchanged fire on the Golan Heights for the 32nd consecutive day after Syrian troops tried to advance up Israeli-held

Political Factions Launch Soundings For New

TEL AVIV (UPI) — Israel's two major political groups, the socialist Labor alignment and rightist Likud bloc, began soundings today to pick a successor to outgoing Prime Minister Golda Meir.

The 75-year old premier handed in her formal resignation to President Ephraim Katzir yesterday and told the Knesset (parliament) she favored early national elections instead of trying to maintain a shaky, caretaker government.

Acknowledging a gathering wave of national discontent, Mrs. Meir told the legislature, "I came to the conclusion that perhaps the public should be given the opportunity to reassess its political wishes."

Under Israeli law, the resignation automatically brought down her entire, five-week-old Labor government.

Katzir said he would begin immediate consultations with leaders of all parliamentary factions before picking a new prime minister to form a transitional government. He said Mrs. Meir would stay on until replaced.

Political sources said representatives of the opposition Likud bloc would meet Sunday with Katzir. Likud chief Menachem Begin was expected to ask for a chance to form a workable coalition.

Labor party leaders said, however, Katzir would probably pick an interim prime minister from within Mrs. Meir's party, which has ruled Israel since independence in 1948.

Mrs. Meir's badly split Labor alignment lost eight seats Dec. 31 in the last national election, but still enjoys a 51-seat plurality in the 120-member Knesset.

Mercury Photos

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The spectacular close-up pictures flashed back by Mariner 10 strongly suggest Mercury has a massive, Earth-like iron core hidden beneath a battered, heavily cratered crust resembling the moon.

If this is so, it means Mercury underwent considerable melting early in its history, with heavier materials sinking to the center of the planet and lighter silicates rising to the surface.

Some Back On Job

TOKYO (UPI) — Half of Japan's 6.5 million striking workers returned to their jobs today, but mass walkouts still left the nation's rail service paralyzed and economy crippled for the second day in a row.

Government and union leaders called a high-level meeting today to seek an end to unprecedented nationwide walkouts sparked by soaring inflation.

Workers in 26 unions, including hospital, telephone, telegraph and airline employees, returned to their jobs today, but 35 unions, including state railroad workmen, stayed out tying up transportation.

Homes Raided

BELFAST (UPI) — British soldiers raided numerous Roman Catholic homes in Belfast before dawn today, arresting several women as suspected Irish Republican Army (IRA) bombers, the army said.

An army spokesman said most of the 29 persons detained were women in their late teens and early 20s. Women were believed responsible for most of the fire bombs that created chaos in Belfast and three other towns earlier this week.

Hamster Disease

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI) — Health officials said yesterday that thousands of hamsters are being destroyed across the country in an effort to prevent the spread of a mild form of meningitis that already has affected 51 persons in seven states.

Dr. George Hardy, the Jefferson County, Ala., health officer, said one probable case of the disease has been reported in Birmingham, while 30 cases have been reported in New York, eight in Florida, five each in Massachusetts and California, two in New Jersey and one in Nevada. No one has died from the disease.

Firing Demanded

ADDIS ABABA (UPI) — Thousands of striking municipal workers yesterday demonstrated in the streets of Addis Ababa to demand the firing of Mayor Haile-Giorgis Workneh.

The mayor, appointed by Emperor Haile Selassie, has not appeared at his office since charges of corruption were publicly aired against him, but despite allegations he misappropriated city funds and property, diplomats said the mayor appeared determined to retain his post.

Role Of France

PARIS (UPI) — Leftist presidential candidate Francois Mitterrand said today France must adopt a wider world role and end its boycott of the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (SALT) in Vienna and the Geneva disarmament conference.

Mitterrand is the sole representative of the Communist-Socialist bloc for the May 5 elections to choose a successor to President Georges Pompidou, who died April 2.

Another new candidate, Jean Royer, joined the race for the presidency yesterday as the third Gaullist candidate.

Outpost Overrun

SAIGON (UPI) — Communist troops overran a strategic government outpost north of Saigon early today, climaxing a 14-month siege with a massive mortar barrage and infantry attack.

The Saigon military command said there was no word yet on the fate of the 300 government troops and an undetermined number of dependents at the Tong Le Chan ranger camp, 60 miles from Saigon near the Cambodian border.

Regular Sales Of Gas Seen By Next Week

Monday probably will mark the official end of the fading odd-even gasoline sales plan for Marin County, a service station spokesman predicted today.

Art Baptiste, president of the Marin County Independent Service Station Association, said many of the dealers have been getting larger gasoline deliveries. They have returned to longer hours and dropped the odd-even plan, he said.

The dealers probably will tell the Marin County Board of Supervisors on Tuesday that the odd-even plan no longer is needed. The long lines of thirsty autos have vanished, Baptiste said.

The original 45-day test of the odd-even plan ends Monday.

Other Bay Area counties that opted for the similar plan proposed by Gov. Ronald Reagan and monitored by state officials, have returned to normal operations in every case.

The price situation appears confusing as ever.

Baptiste said independent dealers' prices for premium fuel vary from 57 cents to 63 cents a gallon depending on the brand and on what the oil companies tell the dealers.

At least one Arco station in San Rafael dropped prices four cents a gallon yesterday.

Baptiste said Standard Oil's delivery prices rose a half-cent a gallon April 1, but Shell went down 1.5 cents, while Mobil raised its dealers five cents a gallon, bringing the price to 62 or 63 cents a gallon for premium gasoline.

Another dealer reported that refineries' charges seem to vary as much as four cents a gallon depending on whether the gasoline is made from cheap or more costly crude oil.

"There is no such thing as a stable price," Baptiste complained. He said oil companies also were not all alike in treatment of dealers — some firms are reducing rent because the dealers monthly gasoline allotments are down, but other firms are demanding full rent.

Judge Rules Man Is A Drug Addict

A San Rafael man shot and wounded by San Anselmo police while allegedly burglarizing a Scenic Avenue residence has been declared a drug addict.

Superior Court Judge Charles Read Best suspended criminal proceedings against Stephen Curtis Gardner, 24, and sent him to the California Rehabilitation Center for treatment.

San Anselmo police went to the home of Barbara Z. Johnston on Jan. 13 and reported seeing Gardner inside the ransacked house.

When he appeared to reach for a weapon, he was shot in the leg.

Despite the wound, Gardner leaped from a window and fled, but officers followed a trail of blood up nearby Spruce Avenue and found Gardner hiding in bushes a block away.

Parolee Needn't Have An Attorney

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The State Supreme Court ruled yesterday that a parolee is not automatically entitled to have an attorney represent him at a hearing into the revoking of his parole.

The court ruled in the case of Dennis Love who was sentenced to five years to life for second degree murder in 1967. Love claimed his parole revocation was defective on several grounds, including a lack of counsel.

The court rejected the contention that Love was entitled to a lawyer but ordered a new hearing on other grounds.

Three Seeking Seat Left By Mailliard

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Three candidates have filed in the special election June 4 in the Sixth Congressional District to fill the vacancy left by the resignation of William S. Mailliard.

Filing were Alan F. Reeves, businessman; Jean M. Wall, teacher and attorney, and Nat Weinstein. Reeves, a Democrat, and Wall, a Republican, also are candidates in the regular primary election the same date in the new Fifth Congressional District. Both include Marin.

Weinstein filed as an independent and pauper, thus did not have to pay the $425 filing fee.

Filing opened yesterday and closes at 5 p.m. next Friday.

There was no filing yet in Marin.

If no one wins a majority of the ballots in the special election, a runoff will be held on July 2. The winner will serve the remainder of Mailliard's term, which expires at the end of this year.

Farr Is Seeking To Boot Judge

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Reporter William Farr asked superior court yesterday to disqualify Judge Charles H. Older from presiding at a hearing on a contempt charge that Older levied against him.

Farr said through attorney Marc Hurwitz that Older was prejudiced and could not give him a fair and impartial trial.

Farr was found in contempt by Older for refusing to disclose the source of a story he wrote during the Charles Manson murder trial. He served 46 days in jail but was released pending appeal.

On Wednesday Older postponed indefinitely a hearing ordered by the appellate court.

Girls' Body Is Found In River

The body of a missing girl was found at 12:30 p.m. yesterday floating in the Petaluma River at the Highway 101 overpass, according to Petaluma police and Sonoma County sheriff's deputies.

She was identified as Joetta Marie Pike, 15, of 6 Eastside Circle, Petaluma, who had been reported missing on March 31, by her mother, Mrs. Dewey S. Pike.

She was in the 10th grade at Casa Grande School. Her mother reported that the girl was "a good to champion swimmer." An autopsy showed she drowned.

The fully clothed body was spotted by a truckdriver from the overpass and reported to Petaluma police.

Funeral arrangements were pending today at Parent Funeral Chapel.

Death Seen Likely Due To Seizure

A San Anselmo woman apparently suffered a fatal seizure while attempting to drive into her garage last night, the Marin County coroner's office reported today.

An autopsy is pending to determine the cause of death for Ada Louise Ross, 67, of 480 Upper Scenic Avenue.

Her husband, Alex A. Ross, found her slumped in the car at 6:15 p.m.; the car had gone over an embankment into a neighbor's yard, apparently after Mrs. Ross had activated an automatic garage door opener to drive into her own garage.

Mrs. Ross was taken to Marin General Hospital, where she was pronounced dead on arrival.

She suffered a stroke about a year ago, the coroner's office said.

Funeral arrangements were pending today at the Chapel of the Hills, San Anselmo.

No Impeachment Digging Asked

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate leaders Mike Mansfield and Hugh Scott are warning fellow senators and the news media against taking any polls in the Senate to determine whether it would convict President Nixon if he is impeached.

Mansfield asked the media to refrain from polling "so we can be as open-minded as possible, and free of this kind of pressure as possible."

Scott said it was the "request of the leadership" that senators refuse to participate in any poll.

"I hope they would resist poll taking information," Scott said. "This is not a ball game, this is not a circus, this is not a contest on which bets should be wagered."

Letter Links School Boards To Campaign

The Tamalpais High School District board and the Marin County Board of Education entered the primary campaign yesterday with a letter seeking attendance of all school trustees at a meeting with Assemblyman John L. Burton, candidate for the Democratic nomination in the Fifth Congressional District.

The letter, signed by Jerrold M. Ladar as chairman of the Tam district board and Marilyn R. Crowell as a member of the county board and president of the Marin County School Boards Association, said the meeting would be to discuss issues bearing on education.

Reaction by Tam district trustees and board of education members was mixed with most of those reached hesitating to comment because they had not been able to contact Ladar or Mrs. Crowell concerning why they signed the letter.

tarian accompany this afternoon's task force to Mrs. Brown's home.

"We intend to look into the situation to see what's there in our field of responsibility," Dr. Albrecht said.

Deputies, humane officers and newsmen found the two-story home so littered with feces and urine that they had to shovel a way through some of the doors on Wednesday.

Dr. Albrecht also suggested that the Marin County Animal Health and Control Committee investigate why the problem has been allowed to exist for several years in the neighborhood.

Dr. Albrecht said she accompanied deputies to try to inspect the house more than a year ago, but was unable to get past locked gates behind which Mrs. Brown barricaded herself.

Glenwood area residents complained to the Independent Journal last night that some of the woman's dogs still were running wild in the brush and barking around the home.

When officers began confiscating dogs Wednesday, they were armed with a court order setting a $200 impound fee on each dog before it could be recovered by the owner, Dollahite reported. Mrs. Brown, after repeated brushes with the law over her pets, apparently is bowing to official insistence that she stop harboring dogs, and won't try to retrieve them, he said.

Plea Against Easter Animals For Children

The Marin County Humane Society today advised parents who are considering giving their children animals for Easter to instead buy "fake stuffed animals or similar toys."

During the Easter season there has been a "tremendous amount of cruelty perpetrated" upon baby chicks, rabbits and ducklings, the society reported.

"In the past, these animals were given as novelties with the purpose of being a temporary toy. This practice is obviously cruel and is discouraged."

Barbara Boxer, Marin campaign coordinator for Burton, said the campaign office arranged the meeting for April 18 at 8 p.m. in the Stephen Jaffe home in Greenbrae. She said campaign workers then asked Ladar and Mrs. Crowell if they would sign the invitation.

Man Arrested In Drug Probe

Federal drug agents and San Rafael police last night arrested a 36-year-old man at his apartment in the Canal area on suspicion of a federal narcotics offense.

No further details about the arrest of Aloysius G. Juodakis of 26 Medway Road, Apt. 12, were available, though, today.

Federal agents refused to discuss the case until they "conferred with the chemist."

Juodakis was booked into Marin County Jail but was turned over to federal authorities to be taken to court in San Francisco today, authorities said.

patient are very vague or nonexistent and without documentation as to purpose."

Because of the problems with contracts, it recommends the county appoint a "contract coordinator." The position would oversee the contracts, monitor the use of funds throughout the year and "make certain that the contract provider does not bill the county and a private insurance. . . for the same service."

The report asserts that at the time of the review in January, about $1 million of psychiatric Medi-Cal money had been spent by the county without contracts being signed by the providers.

Within the mental health department's own programs for offering care, there is little administrative direction to the nine programs, the report goes on to say.

Services to emotionally disturbed children have been "badly fragmented" in various reorganizations, which also were blamed in the report as part of the cause for low morale among employees.

The "crisis unit" at the Community Mental Health Center, meanwhile, has a high rate of recidivism caused by "poor follow-up and referral system to other programs (and) a lack of alternative type facilities in which to place patients."

There are no mobile crisis teams to provide home visits when crisis situations exist, it continues, and recommends such units be established.

The regional units — mental health offices located in Mill Valley, San Rafael, Novato and Point Reyes Station — "Seem to see the people they choose" and show a lack of direction from or coordination with Dr. Taylor's staff.

Employees at these "regional units" do not go out into the areas they serve "but usually have contact with walk-ins" it adds.

The report cites 18 "general problems" in this portion of the document, including a lack of staff training, lack of "clear-cut administrative decisiveness," no sharing of information, and employees who "sit in their offices and seem unaware of what is going on in the community."

Its recommendations include "definite lines of authority and responsibility" be drawn, more supervision of staff ("The impression was conveyed that each person pretty much does his own thing"), better documentation and development of a program for the elderly.

In treatment of the elderly, it claims "the county effort is minimal if not nonexistent."

County Administrator John F. Barrows acknowledged yesterday the lack of a geriatrics program but said creation of one is up to county supervisors.

"The mental health units seem much more interested in providing services to younger persons than to the elderly," the report adds.

It recommends use of the "mobile teams" in place of sending police to situations where elderly persons are involved.

Among other things, counseling services should be provided the elderly.

Policeman Makes Plea To Burglary

A Berkeley policeman arrested in December on suspicion of burglarizing a Ross construction site pleaded guilty yesterday to misdemeanor burglary and grand theft.

Christopher John Panagotacos, 28, who lives in San Rafael, will be sentenced May 24 in Marin Municipal Court.

He could be jailed for a year and fined $1,000 for each of the offenses.

Panagotacos is on disability leave from the Berkeley Police Department because of a back injury suffered on the job and has applied for disability retirement. He joined the force in 1968.

Panagotacos and a San Francisco fireman, Robert Louis Vergano, 28, of Fairfax, were arrested Dec. 12 near a home under construction at 110 Laurel Avenue in Ross.

The men had loaded four glass doors, four ladders, boards and insulation onto a pickup truck before Ross officers arrived, they reported.

The case against Vergano was dismissed after he agreed to testify against Panagotacos.

Panagotacos also was charged with battery in October 1972 following a brawl at a San Anselmo tavern.

He was acquitted by a municipal court jury in a nine-day trial.

Justice Warns Of Electronic Surveillance

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI) — U.S. Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas told a group of college students Wednesday that electronic surveillance "has spread like wildfire."

"So watch your step, my young friends," he said.

He spoke to 1,300 students in a program sponsored by the Seattle Central Community College. Douglas allowed newsmen to cover his speech, but he did not permit television camera lights to be turned on.

The 75-year-old jurist from Washington State began his speech by reciting "an old story about how to cook a frog."

Travel Proposals To Be Considered

More than 30 proposals for summer transportation projects will be considered by the citizens advisory committee of the Golden Gate Recreational Travel Study at a 7:30 p.m. meeting Monday in the Larkspur city hall.

The committee will recommend demonstration projects, designed to encourage transit use and cut back on auto travel, to the study's board of control.

The study area covers the Golden Gate National Recreation Area and Point Reyes National Seashore.

NIXON

chief executive arranged to fly to Key Biscayne, Fla., with members of his family for an extended holiday weekend. He is expected to huddle with key aides on strategy for dealing with the House Judiciary Committee's subpoena for 41 of his taped conversations relating to Watergate.

There were indications that Nixon and his top aides were surprised at the committee's overwhelming vote — 33 to 3 — in favor of a subpoena.

Political observers read the vote as a hardening of the impeachment panel's position in view of Nixon's hesitation to hand over tapes first requested last February.

In a session with reporters yesterday, presidential press secretary Ronald Ziegler declined to say whether Nixon would fully comply with the subpoena by the April 25 deadline.

Instead, he said, the White House will provide a "comprehensive and conclusive" answer to the subpoena when Congress returns from its Easter vacation around April 22.

Both Ziegler and Gen. Alexander Haig, White House chief of staff, also hinted that Nixon was preparing a statement regarding Watergate which he believes will prove his innocence in the political scandals.

The President was concentrating his efforts on boosting his popularity with more public appearances and by stressing his strong point — foreign policy — by meetings with foreign leaders despite the burden of Watergate.

He conferred twice with Algerian Premier Houari Boumedienne in the oval office yesterday and later at a private White House dinner, where they discussed the possibility of restoring diplomatic relations between the two countries. Nixon has also stressed that he met with 35 world leaders while he was in Paris in recent public remarks.

Ziegler said that Nixon "totally rejects" a resolution proposed by Rep. Les Aspin, D-Wis., that he be barred from travel abroad or foreign policy negotiations while he is under an impeachment investigation.

The impeachment inquiry may be reaching a climax by the time Nixon flies to the Soviet Union.

Books On Alcoholism Given To Libraries

Two books and a brochure on alcoholism, part of a $500 purchase by the Alcohol Information Committee with cash grants from Marin Rotary clubs, will be available at all city and county libraries this month, the committee has announced.

Being distributed to supplement library collections are "Young People and Drinking" by Arthur Cain and "New Primer on Alcoholism" by Marty Mann. The new pamphlet, designed to cover "a neglected area of loss reduction," is titled "What to do about the employee with a drinking problem."

Novato Parade Entry Planned

The Novato Fire District will enter a 1947 engine and possibly a hand-drawn cart in the San Rafael Centennial Parade May 26, according to Fire Chief Jack W. Kidder.

Kidder reported to the district board Wednesday night that the cart used in Black Point during World War II for fire protection may be put in working order for the parade.

Directors also agreed to switch meeting nights, second and fourth Wednesdays, to second and fourth Mondays, starting next month.

Minimum Wage Complaints Rise

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Complaints about alleged violations of California's minimum wage have risen 30 per cent since the hourly rate was increased to $2 last month, according to the state Department of Industrial Relations.

"The state minimum wage increased on March 4 from $1.65 to $2 an hour and employers have had ample time by now to make the upward pay scale adjustment," Evelyn Whitlow, chief of the department's Division of Industrial Welfare, said yesterday.

End To Servants For Brass Asked

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., has asked Defense Secretary James Schlesinger to eliminate the "snobbish" system of assigning enlisted men as personal servants for generals and admirals.

Congress passed legislative last year to reduce the number of servants provided for military brass to 675 from a prior total of 1,722.

Timber Growers Protest On Fees

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Timber growers Wednesday protested proposed fees that would finance costs of administering a new state law enacted to regulate cutting of forests on private lands.

John Callaghan, executive vice president of the California Forest Protective Association, estimated the newly enacted Forest Practices Act of 1973 could cost timber operators $7 million a year.

Callaghan issued the protest in testimony prepared for a hearing of the state Board of Forestry called to examine how much timbermen must pay in state fees next year.

Expansion Of Ferries Is Opposed

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — The San Francisco Chamber of Commerce yesterday urged the Legislature to block the Golden Gate Bridge District from expanding its ferry system until after a study of the district due next January.

The same appeal by the chamber has been rejected twice by the San Francisco Board of Supervisors. Hearings on the chamber proposal by the supervisors were swamped by support for the ferry system from San Francisco labor unions and neighborhood groups, with only the chamber opposing the ferries.

The first of the district's new ferries is expected to go into service in August.

The study of the district's performance in operating its transit system is being made by Legislative Analyst A. Alan Post at the request of Assemblyman John L. Burton, D-San Francisco.

Chamber president William Witter said the prohibition against further work on the ferry system was justified because of "the current fiscal difficulties the bridge district is encountering." The ferry system, which the chamber has opposed for years, will aggravate the district's financial pinch, he claimed.

Panel Against Lighting Courts

The Tiburon Parks and Recreation Commission last night recommended against the city council lighting the new Del Mar School tennis courts for evening play.

Commissioner Mary Wilson said that representatives of the Del Mar Valley and Little Reed Heights property owners associations were at the meeting to oppose the lighting idea.

Also last night, the commission recommended that the council approve a proposal from the Marin cyclists to run a bicycle race on the Tiburon bike path next fall that would probably draw about 100 contestants.

Water Hookup Ban Said Illegal

Robert C. Walker of Mill Valley, candidate for Marin Municipal Water District's Division 4 seat, has branded the district's moratorium on new connections "an illegal act."

Agreeing with the recent court ruling against the moratorium, Walker said "there was, in fact, no water shortage, and it was an exercise in population growth control outside the legal powers permitted by the California Water Code."

Walker called for increasing the water supply by raising the height of district dams and completing the north Marin Intertie to get Sonoma water. "The district is under legal duty to augment its water supply to meet continuously increasing demands of its consumers as well as population increases," he declared.

SAN RAFAEL CENTENNIAL MEDALLIONS

San Rafael city cashier-clerk Jane Hansen counts a stack of Centennial medallions that go on sale Monday at city hall and at banks and savings and loan association offices in San Rafael. The coins, featuring a city seal on one side, a Centennial seal on the other, were struck in bronze ($2.50) and silver ($15). The 3,000 bronze medallions and 200 silver medallions are part of the mounting memorabilia generated in celebration of the city's 100th birthday extravaganza next month.

VD In California Tops The Average

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — California's venereal disease rate is 22 per cent higher than the national rate, the state Department of Health reports. The department yesterday said the state's VD rate stands at 534 cases per 100,000 population, compared to the national rate of 434 cases.

Gallup Says Watergate Scandal To Linger On Fringe For Years

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Pollster George Gallup Jr. predicts the American public will not forget Watergate as easily as it has past scandals and that its effects will linger for many years.

Gallup, attending an American Personnel and Guidance Association convention yesterday, acknowledged the public tends to forget many incidents after a few years and cited the Chappaquiddick episode as an example.

"Sen. (Ted) Kennedy's popularity took a tailspin after Chappaquiddick," he said, "But he appears to have regained most of that lost ground since 1971."

But Watergate, because of its many ramifications and lengthy time span, will not fade so quickly in the public mind, said Gallup.

He said his regular surveys of the nation show the Republican Party's popularity has dropped to its lowest point among college students since 1967, when his group started polling them as a separate class.

Gallup said that among the population at large, fewer people admit allegiance to the GOP now than since the 1930s.

"Watergate is the key factor in all of this," said Gallup.

"Regardless of the ups and downs, about three out of four people polled believe Nixon was involved to at least some extent in Watergate."

But he admitted the president "gets his major points on foreign policy and this is still holding him in very good stead, actually."

Trustees To Eye Policy On Leaves

Tamalpais High School District trustees will hold a special meeting tomorrow at 9 a.m. in the Redwood High School faculty lounge to consider a new policy which would make it easier for district personnel to obtain year-long leaves.

Trustees also will continue their hearings on a projected $900,000 deficit in next year's budget and will review alternative budget cuts which might not require firing district personnel.

Harris Poll Shows Slim Impeachment Plurality

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Harris Survey said today that "by 43 to 41 per cent, a narrow plurality of the American people is now prepared to agree that President Nixon should be impeached by Congress and removed from office, while 16 per cent are unsure."

The poll, conducted by Louis Harris and Associates, Inc., is the first to record a popular margin in favor of Congress removing Nixon from the presidency, Harris said.

The results came from a national cross section of 1,495 households interviewed between March 24 and 29, and "it is fair to conclude that the American people now want the full procedure of the Constitution regarding impeachment to be invoked against President Nixon," Harris said.

"A clear majority agrees, by 55-53 per cent, with the statement that if President Nixon fails to turn over the information the House Judiciary Committee wants, then that Committee should vote to bring impeachment charges against the President," Harris said.

"A substantial number, 67-19 per cent, do not expect the President to turn over all the evidence the committee wants from him. And the public gives him overwhelmingly negative marks, 72-21 per cent, on the way he is cooperating with the impeachment proceedings."

HOLY WEEK CEREMONY

Pope Paul VI showed slight signs of physical weakness during a Holy Thursday Mass yesterday in which he washed and kissed the feet of 12 young polio victims before leading the world's 600 million Roman Catholics today in commemorating Good Friday, Chris-tianity's most somber day and the only one on which mass is forbidden. In Jerusalem, about 3,000 Christians, chanting prayers and singing hymns, wound through the old city's narrow Via Dolorosa, reenacting the Crucifixion of Christ almost 2,000 years ago. (UPI Telephoto)

Second Test Of Mazda Not So Bad

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The rotary engine Mazda, which came out of earlier government tests looking like a gas hog, has emerged from a new test looking a little better, but still no fuel economy bargain, according to the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA).

In general, the agency said yesterday, the Japanese import requires about 50 per cent more gasoline to travel a given distance on the highway or in town than do piston-powered cars weighing about the same.

But the EPA added that the Mazda was a "hot car to drive" and "ahead of its time in meeting clean air rules."

The first government test, released last fall, was based on urban-suburban driving conditions. Mazda had sought the second test, involving highway use, because it said the car did significantly better than others on the open road compared to city use.

Mazda said the new study proves what it has been saying all along—that Mazda drivers can expect to average 17 to 18 miles per gallon in all-around driving use.

In any case, the new figures give Mazda something better to talk about than the previous study, in which two Mazda coupes and one station wagon got only 10.6, 10.7 and 10.8 miles per gallon respectively. In the new test, in which perfectly tuned cars were used, two Mazda models got 13.4 and 13.3

Friday, April 12, 1974

Independent-Journal. 7

m.p.g. under city driving conditions. On the highway test they got 21.2 and 19.0 m.p.g.

The EPA also tested a Saab in the same 2,750 pound weight class and got 21 m.p.g. in the city test and 30.6 in the highway version.

Eric O. Stork, a deputy assistant EPA administrator, told a briefing that "for its weight, Mazda's fuel economy does not compare favorably with other vehicles." He added, however, that it is a "hot car to drive and is ahead of its time in meeting clean air rules—the main reason why it is hard on gas."

Judge Sets Ehrlichman Trial On Anniversary Of Break-In WASHINGTON (UPI) — A federal judge has set June 17—two years to the day after the 1972 Watergate burglary—for the beginning of the conspiracy trial of John D. Ehrlichman and five others involved in the Ellsberg break-in.

U.S. District Court Judge Gerhard A. Gesell yesterday said in a brief order the trial date may be changed pending motions by some defendants for separate trials.

Charged in the case with Ehrlichman, President Nixon's former domestic affairs adviser, are Charles Colson, former Special White House Counsel; convicted Watergate burglar G. Gordon Liddy; and three Cuban-Americans, Felipe DeDiego, Bernard L. Barker and Eugenio Martinez.

The indictment charges they conspired to violate the civil liberties of Dr. Lewis J. Fielding, the Beverly Hills psychiatrist who once treated Dr. Daniel Ellsberg. Ellsberg was the man who made public the "Pentagon Papers" on Vietnam.

The defendants are charged in the White House "plumbers" operation to break into Fielding's office to obtain Ellsberg's psychiatric records.

In other Watergate developments:

A federal judge said that the perjury trial of Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke of California would begin prior to the June 4 California gubernatorial primary. Judge Barrington Parker said the trial would begin immediately after a May 13 hearing and ruling on a motion to move the trial to California. Reinecke is a leading Republican contender for governor in the primary.

—Defense and prosecution attorneys in the New York City conspiracy trial of former cabinet members John N. Mitchell and Maurice H. Stans met in private yesterday with U.S. District Court Judge Lee P. Gagliardi. Presumably the discussion centered on the content of Gagliardi's instructions to the jury when the trial winds up, probably late next week.

In the Ellsberg case, Gesell ruled against a motion by DeDiego to have the charges against Ehrlichman tried separately from the others. The judge also said DeDiego must find a new lawyer, since his present counsel, Henry Rothblatt, represented the other two Cuban-Americans in the original Watergate burglary trial and a potential conflict of interest existed.

Live a Little—Buy Components

If you live in an apartment, you may wonder about placement in relation to stereo components. Our salespeople will be happy to go into more detail about your specific requirements, but you can be sure that components are more versatile in this respect than any console. A quality component at a modest price, the Sansui 350A AM FM stereo receiver boasts a fine, distortion-free tuner section. The loudness contour switch will enable you to enjoy full musical range at even low volumes (often a necessity for apartment dwellers). Another outstanding value in this system is the 2-way 10-inch TransAudio 1010 speakers; they're quite efficient so the 350A can easily drive them to peak performance. For best results and longevity from your records, we're providing the BSR 310A record player. You're bound to notice the difference when you switch to components, and the particularly good value of this system warrants your attention, stop by and listen.

Price includes Pacific Stereo's 3-Year Service Agreement. Purchased separately, these components would total $599.35. Sansui 350A receiver with walnut case (10 watts RMS at 1 kHz) $219.95 TransAudio 1010 speaker system (pair) $119.90 BSR 310A with base and Shure M74ES cartridge $59.50

What's the Difference Between a Stereo System and an Easter Egg?

Come to Pacific Stereo and you'll find it's simple: it's fun to hunt for Easter eggs, but hunting for a stereo system is the last thing you want to do. It's hard to get a good deal on a system, searching for a receiver here and a pair of speakers there. Fortunately, there's no need to hunt for music systems, not with Pacific Stereo in town. We have the widest selection and lowest prices around, as well as knowledgeable salespeople who'll make sure you get exactly what you want. The equipment here is a good example of how low our prices really are, and you'll find even more in the stores. And when you get home and switch on your new music system after the hunt, the fun really begins...

JBL Speakers in a Solid Combo

With Sherwood's legendary FM reception, you may discover some good stations totally new to you, and you'll definitely enjoy all of them. Few receivers in this price category can offer the tuner performance and the power that the $7200 AM FM stereo receiver offers. Your musical enjoyment will be further enhanced by JBL's L-26 "Decade" speaker systems, included here at their fair trade price. Because they utilize a ported enclosure design, the Decades are very efficient and can be turned up very loud with no musical distortion. Perhaps your records have never sounded so good as they will played on Garrard's new Model 62 record player, equipped with an Empire XE/X elliptical diamond cartridge. There simply aren't any weak links in this system; you get beautifully rendered music and considerable savings.

Price includes Pacific Stereo's 3-Year Service Agreement. Purchased separately, these components would total $687.90. St. Rita's Principal Is Promoted

I-J Special Report
NORWICH, Conn. — Sister Beatrice Theroux, principal and superior at St. Rita's School in Fairfax, has been named superintendent of schools for the Norwich Diocese in Connecticut, it was announced today by Vincent J. Hines, bishop of Norwich.

She will take her new post in July.

Sister Beatrice has had 20 years of elementary school teaching on almost every grade level.

She holds a bachelor's degree from Diocesan Sisters' College, Putnam Branch, and a master's degree from Boston College.

Since 1965 she has been assigned to the California Vice-Province of the Daughters of the Holy Spirit. In addition to administrative and teaching work at St. Rita's, she also has taught in elementary schools in West Sacramento and Davis.

On the East Coast, she taught in Putnam, Plainfield and Moosup in Conn. and in Fitchburg, Mass.

She is a member of the executive board of the San Francisco Sisters' Senate, secretary of the Marin Reading Council and a member of the National Catholic Education Association.

Sister Beatrice, previously known as Sister Therese Emile, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emile Theroux of Oneco, Conn. She has been a member of the Daughters of the Holy Spirit for 20 years, having made her religious consecration in 1953 at the Provincial House in Putnam.

Today is Friday, April 12, the 102nd day of 1974 with 253 to follow.
The moon is between full and the last quarter. The morning stars are Mercury, Venus and Jupiter. The evening stars are Saturn and Mars.

American statesman Henry Clay was born April 12, 1777.

Also on this day in history:
— In 1861, the Civil War began when Confederate troops opened fire on Fort Sumter, S.C.

In 1945, President Franklin D. Roosevelt died at Warm Springs, Ga. About three hours later, Vice President Harry Truman was sworn in as chief executive.

In 1954, Dr. Robert Oppenheimer, referred to as "the father of the atom bomb," was suspended by the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission as a possible security risk.

In 1961, Russia launched a man into space. He became the first human to orbit the Earth and return safely.

A thought for the day: American writer George Curtis said: "Imagination is as good as many voyages... and how much cheaper!"

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Before Taking Any Action On This No-Trump, Take Good Look

"The time to eat your cake is while you still have it," according to Poor Alfred's Almanac. With this subject out of the way, the almanac offers a nugget of advice: "Don't be suit-wise and hand-foolish."

KEY QUESTION
West opens the four of hearts against the contract of three no-trump. What would you do as declarer?

The only way to make sure of a heart trick is to play the low heart from the dummy. East can win with the queen, and West can win the next heart trick with the ace, but your own jack will then be good for a trick.

You cannot be sure of winning a heart trick if you play the king from dummy at the first trick. After all, East may have the ace and West may have the queen.

SAFE BUT SORRY
If you play a low heart from dummy at the first trick, you will be safe but sorry. There will be no entry to dummy for the diamond finesse. You will win two spades, one heart, three diamonds and two clubs. This is one trick less than you need for game.

It's true that you need a heart trick, but you also need the diamond finesse. The only way you can get to dummy for the finesse is to win a heart trick with the king.

RISKY PLAN
In short, you must make the risky play in hearts for the sake of the hand as a whole. Put up the king of hearts while dummy still has it.

When you get away with that first play, follow it up by leading the nine of diamonds for the finesse. It wins, and you can then lead the queen of diamonds from dummy to repeat the finesse. This series of plays assures the contract.

DAILY QUESTION
Partner opens with one spade, and the next player passes.

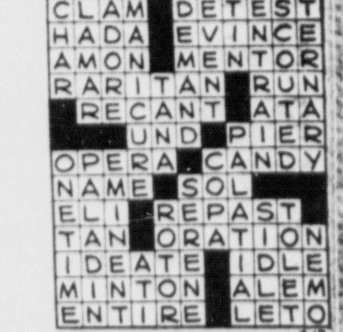

You hold:
♠ 9 5 3 2
♥ K 6
♦ Q 9 4 3
♣ 8 7 3

What do you say?
ANSWER: Bid two spades. Some experts would bid one no-trump on the assumption that this promises less strength than a raise. The trouble is that this allows the opponents to enter the auction at a low level. The raise to two spades makes it far more expensive for an opponent to come in.

WET RESCUE TRAINING

Swimmers try out their rescue techniques on each other and on instructors — some of whom put up realistic struggles as victims. The session in the Terra Linda High School pool yesterday was one of 20 lessons offered by the Marin Red Cross chapter in junior and senior lifesaving techniques during the Easter Week vacation. The classes are being held in Tiburon, Larkspur, San Rafael, Terra Linda and Novato, for a total of 142 students.

Drug Dealer Says Bowers Admitted Shooting Ranger

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A dealer in drugs has testified that three days after a Pt. Reyes National Seashore ranger was murdered, Veronza Bowers told him, "I had to kill me one."

Arthur White, 25, of Berkeley testified before a federal court jury yesterday in Bowers' trial on charges of slaying Ranger Kenneth Patrick last Aug. 5.

White concluded his testimony with a brief appearance today when he repeated his statement that Bowers had not told him of anyone else who was with him at the time the ranger was killed.

White, who said he deals in "speed," has seven felony convictions and is awaiting sentencing for drug possession, testified that Bowers, 28, came to his home three days after the slaying. "I was sitting at the dining room table when he came in," White said. "Somehow he sensed what was on my mind. It was the ranger killing I had heard and read about."

"He started the conversation off by stating 'I had to kill me one.' I expressed amazement and asked, 'Why, what happened?'" White testified.

"He said the car was pulled over by the ranger. The ranger got out and shined his light in our car. Upon seeing some blacks in the car he drew back," White quoted Bowers as saying.

"He said he shot the ranger, who fell down, then got up," White said. "He shot him again. The ranger was kicking like a chicken and he shot him a third time."

White said Bowers didn't disclose who was with him during the killing but he said "everybody would keep his mouth shut or he would take care of them."

Earlier this week, Alan W. Veale, 24, indicted on the murder charge with Bowers, turned state's evidence and testified against him. Veale is to be tried later.

White also testified that the night before the killing he overheard Bowers invite his brother, Sidney White, to go deer poaching at the park. White said his brother declined to go.

Defense attorney Marvin Stender, attempted to get this last testimony stricken as hearsay. He cited a statement to the FBI in which White made no mention of overhearing the invitation and said Sidney told him about it. But White claimed his statement had been misinterpreted.

In cross-examination, White was asked why he thought Bowers told him about the killing. "I hate to say it, but I think he told me because he was proud of what he did," White replied.

White also told Stender he hoped his testimony would enable him to "avoid going to state prison," and also qualify him for part of a $10,000 reward offered in the case by the government.

Convicted Of One Burglary

James Russell Phillips Jr., 22, of San Francisco, sentenced last week in Marin Superior Court to six months in jail, was convicted of one burglary in Sausalito.

The Independent-Journal incorrectly reported Monday that he had been convicted of two burglaries. A second charge of burglary against Phillips was dismissed by Judge Charles Read Best, who sentenced him.

Nothing was taken in the burglary for which Phillips was sentenced.

Suit Seeks $250,000 In Beating

A San Anselmo High School student, claiming he was attacked and beaten at a school dance 18 months ago, filed a $250,000 damage suit yesterday in Marin Superior Court.

Named as defendants in the action brought by Lloyd Stanley Good, 17, were the Tamalpais High School District, the City of San Anselmo, three of its police and Michael Gardner, who allegedly administered the beating.

Good was at a dance at Sir Francis Drake High School on Oct. 7, 1972, when he was "attacked and struck on and about his body" by Gardner and knocked to the ground, the suit said.

The high school district and the city "negligently failed to provide adequate supervision or any supervision at all," the suit said, though they "knew the bellicose propensities of Michael Gardner."

A Grandson Of Mussolini Dies

ROME (UPI) — Count Marzio Ciano, grandson of Benito Mussolini, died today after a brief illness, his family said today.

Ciano, 37, was the son of the dictator's daughter, Edda, and of Count Galeazzo Ciano, Mussolini's foreign minister who was executed by a Fascist firing squad in 1943 for his role in the overthrow of his father-in-law.

Redesign Requested Of Office Expansion

The Tiburon Planning Commission last night sent Belvedere landowner Fred G. Zelinsky back to the drawing board with his proposal for an addition to the Maritime Office Building at 1620 Tiburon Boulevard.

Commissioners advised Zelinsky to rearrange parking and include more landscaping in his plans, according to Philemon V. Scott, development administrator.

The addition previously was rejected by the commission on the grounds that Zelinsky should develop a master plan for all his property in the downtown area before proceeding with an individual building. But the city council subsequently overruled the planning commis-

Special Trash Pickup Slated

The Fairfax Garbage Disposal Co. will hold a special trash pickup April 29 through 3, the town administration said today.

Regular customers of the firm may place up to seven garbage cans of refuse at curbside on their regular pickup days, according to City Clerk Eileen Foster. Clippings should be bundled and tied, she added.

In addition, debris boxes will be placed at the city ballfield behind city hall, she said.

Furniture, remodeling refuse and similar garbage will not be collected, she said.

Park Closing At 11 P.M. Is Proposed

City parks should close nightly at 11 p.m. — an hour earlier than at present — the San Rafael Parks and Recreation Commission recommended last night.

Andrew J. Snyder Jr., parks and recreation director, said the commission suggested the earlier closing hours in an effort to curb vandalism in the parks.

The commission agreed that 11 p.m., which is the time of curfew for young people in the city, would be an appropriate closing time.

The recommendation will be forwarded to the city attorney for his review, Snyder said.

The San Rafael Parks and Recreation Commission also:

DEDICATION — Learned that the dedication for new Beach Park will be Saturday, May 18 at 11:30 a.m.

OPEN SPACE — Referred to the city open space committee a request from the Terra Linda Homeowners Association that the city acquire a 5.5 acre lot at 50 Elda Drive.

NEXT MEETING — Adjourned to May 9 at 8 p.m. in city hall.

sion on that decision. The proposed two-story addition would include about 11,500 square feet of office space.

Also last night, the Tiburon Planning Commission:

HILARITA — Approved the final map for the Hilarita moderate income housing project and referred the matter to the city council for final consideration.

APARTMENTS — Referred to the board of design review some changes made in a 14-unit apartment project already in progress at 18 Lyford Drive. A stop-work order was recently issued for the project because architect Tak Enomoto shifted the location of the buildings without city approval.

BEACH ROAD — Approved an addition to the post office complex on Beach Road as requested by the Belvedere Land Co. The addition would include 1,900 square feet of office space to be added as a second story to one building in the complex.

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

County Plan's First Bill Submitted

"In the talk about the Marin County General Plan, too little attention has been paid to costs — dollars and cents costs (or, to be more realistic, millions of dollars costs)."

That was the lead paragraph of an editorial in this space 16 months ago, on Dec. 11, 1972.

THE FIRST BILL has now been submitted.

The county planning department wants the board of supervisors to add $1.5 million to its capital improvement budget for next fiscal year to finance new programs included in the county plan.

It wants $750,000 to subsidize low and moderate-income housing.

It wants $400,000 for waste water reclamation projects.

It wants $250,000 to subsidize waste control programs for dairy farmers.

It wants $100,000 toward purchase of "development rights" in areas yet to be selected. This is for a form of subsidy which, the planners hope, would enable land swaps so that the planners could channel the kind of construction they want into the areas where they want it.

THE COUNTY planners are unhappy because they were not consulted before County Administrator John F. Barrows prepared a capital improvement program for submission to the supervisors.

We don't blame them.

The supervisors adopted the county plan in full knowledge that it was going to be very costly. The planning department's own figures showed it would, and the supervisors had plenty of warning from others that the planning department's cost estimates were probably low.

The supervisors went ahead without even waiting for an $80,000 study by an outside consultant on the economic impact of the plan. (It was just as well they did, perhaps, for the $80,000 study turned out to be worth all of 10 cents, in our opinion.)

Certainly it should come as no surprise to the supervisors that the first instalment of those costs comes along for next fiscal year's budget. After all, they intended it that way.

NOW, OF COURSE, the question arises: Where does the money come from?

The county planners do not suggest, this time, that it is coming from Santa Claus. They make no mention of state or federal handouts to pay for the low-income housing subsidy, the waste water reclamation, the dairy cleanups, the "development rights."

But the county is limited by state law to a tax rate no higher than that for 1972-73. And county departments keep growing as fast or faster than the assessed valuation (which, incidentally, must grow much slower as effects of the county plan begin to be felt).

So the supervisors are faced with reducing elsewhere — either in capital improvements or other programs — if they are to finance the $1.5 million first installment of the county plan.

They asked for it. But did the taxpayers?

JOSEPH C. HARSCH:

Soldiers Home, But Vietnam Still Costly

The last American soldier left Vietnam on March 29, a year ago. The anniversary went by largely unannounced; what with the media's preoccupation with Henry Kissinger in Moscow, the Syrians battling the Israelis along the Golan Heights, and much coming and going with documents and tax records in Washington. But we kept wondering whether perhaps one should give a little thought to that unattended anniversary and what has, and hasn't happened since then in Vietnam and about Vietnam.

The Christian Science Monitor

For one thing, the Saigon government has proved more survival-capable than was generally expected at the time. Without a single American-manned bomber or fighter, and not a single American soldier officially in combat, it has held its own with remarkable success. Whatever its merits (and it is certainly not a pure democracy), it has survived.

But its survival has involved a good deal of American weapons and other forms of aid. The amount is subject to controversy. Sen. Edward Kennedy estimates that it has cost the United States $3 billion in 1973 and that pending programs will amount to $4 billion in 1974. We have no way of knowing whether these estimates are high or low, but they indicate the general magnitude of the amount it is costing the American taxpayer to sustain the Thieu government in Saigon. It doesn't come cheap.

THERE IS, OF COURSE, no end in sight to expensive American support for Saigon. Washington still is giving military and economic aid to South Korea 20 years after the fighting ended there — at the rate of about $225 million a year. All of this set us to pondering the reasons for such a continuing burden on the American taxpayer. How long must it go on and why?

Secretary of State Kissinger argues that it must go on because of "commitments." That is all very well, but unsatisfying. There must be a reason for any such commitment. What are the specific reasons and how valid?

In the case of Korea the reason in geopolitics is easy to grasp. Korea is a peninsula which has been, and could again be, used for invading China from Japan or Japan from China. Thus both Japan and China have vital interests in its ownership and control. The division of Korea into a northern part friendly to China and a southern part belonging to the American alliance system which includes Japan is the safest way history has yet found of making Korea neutral. The division has made for military and political stability in northeast Asia. It has kept the peace for 20 years. The case is strong that it is well worth $200 million or so a year to the U.S.

THE GEOPOLITICAL CASE for American aid to South Vietnam is more complex and subtle. The American presence was unsettling when it consisted of a vast military force taking the military offensive and potentially capable of invading China from the south. But the continued support without troops seems to have had a stabilizing effect. It is to be noted that neither Peking nor Moscow has done any serious agitating for a withdrawal of such American support. And India, which objects to an American naval and air base at Diego Garcia in the middle of the Indian Ocean, takes a benign and quietly approving view of American support for the Thieu government in Saigon.

Another way of stating all this is that Peking would rather have the U.S. sustaining the Thieu government, from a distance, than to have the Russians there. Moscow, of course, would rather have the same quiet American presence than a Chinese one. And India prefers to have the same relatively neutral American presence on its eastern flank than either a Russian or Chinese presence.

Washington, by stepping down from a primary to a secondary role in South Vietnam, has become the favorite outsider for all the others. And this makes for stability.

Whether this is worth $3 billion to $4 billion a year to the taxpayer is another question. The scale seems high. The prudent target for Congress would seem to be a scaling down to the lowest level compatible with the survival of an independent, non-Communist government in South Vietnam, but not any sudden cut or any total American withdrawal.

ERNEST B. FURGURSON: U.S.A. By Bus

INTERSTATE 70 WEST — As the plains rise westward, the miles stretch and the eyes strain searching for the first peaks of the front range of the Rockies, there is more than enough time to render judgment on the brainstorm I had last winter of taking the bus as a solution to the energy crisis.

It really was a crisis when I set out on this long excursion back in February. Our president said so. Since then he has officially downgraded it, but there has been no letup in the escalating price of fuel. So despite the emotional connotation some people have given the very word busing in these last few years, it remains a logical answer to getting there from here.

I STARTED THIS nationwide swing by buying a 60-day Greyhound Ameripass, price $199, which entitles me to go anywhere that line goes, 24 hours a day if I like, until the pass expires. Trailways has a similar deal. My stated intention was to cover the country mostly by bus, leaving the option of catching up on my timetable, covering long, empty spaces or avoiding all-night rides by occasionally flying or driving between points. In fact, in order to keep my unforgiving work schedule, I have up to this late point covered more miles by plane than by bus, plus several hundred by car. But by far the most hours have been spent on buses. And in bus stations.

That should qualify me as a modest expert on their facilities, punctuality, comfort and convenience, compared to other ways of getting there, including the train in the Amtrak era and the bus a generation ago.

BEST FIRST: My first day out, when I was fresh, the station in Washington was uncrowded, the winter weather was perfect, all the way stops up the Shenandoah Valley were quaint and historic, and we got to Roanoke barely half an hour late.

That day the man outside the bus checked my big bag and stowed it underneath. Other days they say you have to lug it aboard and stow it in the overhead, often crushing several innocent skulls doing so. Other days they say you should have checked it at the ticket counter. There is no consistent rule.

Usually the driver will help old ladies, but not always.

There are only two consistent rules that I know of. One is that the driver never under any circumstances shuts off his engine while waiting in a station, be it for two minutes or half an hour. He has never heard of the fuel shortage, except as it theoretically causes him to hold his speed under 55, or of air pollution. The other is that the sign posted up front, saying smoking permitted as long as it does not disturb others, is taken by the driver to mean "light up like me." The ICC has ruled that starting April 22, smokers must be confined to the rear 20 per cent of the seats. That I have to see.

WORST NEXT: The run from Columbus to Indianapolis the day after the first snowstorm of the spring. I was tired, sat on the hot sunny side, the driver kept the heat up at what seemed 55 degrees so he could relax in his shirt sleeves, two cute fellows behind me with unbelievable Afros and fur-trimmed plaid outfits smoked four packs of cigarettes each, the bus was so jammed nobody could shift position the whole trip, and it was miserable.

But legs are not all good or all bad. Between Cocoa and Miami, the first half was beautiful mid-Florida, with pelicans wheeling and palms fanning. Then the further we fell behind schedule, the more often the driver stopped for local traffic, until in North Miami he was taking shopping housewives aboard for six blocks at a clip. That policy is based on the individual driver's whim. We made Miami two hours late.

Economically, the bus remains the cheapest way to go for anyone traveling alone. But unless he is young, determinedly cheerful, can sleep anywhere, smokes in self-defense and can tolerate temperature extremes, he had better limit himself to 200 or 250 miles a day. He should not make binding commitments based on arriving on schedule. He should bring a pocket book and a pocket flask.

Thus armed, he can see more of America, meet more unlikely people and save more money than going any other way. I had some statistics on how much gas he can save, too, but they got too heavy to press and jerk onto the overhead rack.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY: Letters To The I-J

Two Valiant Neighbors Deserve Commendation

In one of the gaudiest demonstrations of bad taste and circus fanfare since the invention of the printing press and boob tube, "coverage" of the Hearst kidnaping drama proves how badly we are served by reporters and editors — the New Showmen — today.

Those who were responsible for informing us did nothing to offend the terrorists. The criminals seized control of media. Reporters submitted graciously.

Midst all of this servility the voices of two men stand out:

(1) The Rev. Fred Small of the Church of God in Marin City.

(2) And Alvis Allen, president, Marin City Homeowners and Improvement Association and a deacon and elder of St. Andrew Presbyterian Church.

I commend their high moral judgment, good sense and bravery to your consideration as great material for an editorial.

Why not a few kind words for our valiant, moral and eloquent Marin City neighbors?

Attorney's Remark Ires Fairfax Resident

Al Bianchi is quoted in your paper as having referred to Fairfax as "backwards." He has his nerve! Al is the representative of a company which intends to invade Fairfax with 80 units whose design appears to combine the aesthetic appeal of 1941 army-barracks-modern and Alcatraz cell-block-contemporary. He hasn't exhibited any concern for the fact that this development will place an intolerable burden on a small town's existing facilities and seriously damage the quality of life for the residents. And he has the nerve to call us backasswards.

Where do you live, Al, in some nice upper middle class tract where you're safe from developers such as the one you represent?

Everybody bring their white cats to the next town meeting on April 22 so Al's run of bad luck will continue.

Pleasure To Serve Easter Seals Committee

It has truly been an honor and a privilege to serve during the past month and a half as honorary chairman of the Easter Seals Society's campaign to raise funds on behalf of the crippled children and adults of Marin County.

I want to thank the society for choosing me as chairman. I've really felt fortunate, having the physical attributes I have. In my past work with the handicapped I've noticed a frustration within them; perhaps feeling they were cheated, that God didn't love them as much as others. I really wanted to help show these children and adults that God loves them all very much and has a plan for their life, just as he has plans for others' lives. I've always considered it a great experience with much satisfaction helping handicapped people and I really appreciate the Marin Easter Seals Society for giving me the opportunity to help out. I only wish that I could insure the success of the drive.

The Independent Journal has been tremendously helpful in publicizing the drive and I personally thank you for your help. The Easter Seals Society would like to remind all Independent Journal readers that their donations on behalf of the many recreation and speech therapy programs are welcome all year round. Half of the society's budget depends upon donations.

Bombs Bursting In Air On TV; Other Bombs At Civic Center

It's a lot more fun to watch 53,775 fans of all ethnic backgrounds spring to their feet time after time, down at Atlanta, Ga., in happy, hilarious ovations for Hank Aaron, even before he sent that ball on a journey way over the left field fence for his 715th home run, than it is to read about the dizzyland gents in the throne room.

With all the cock-eyed stuff that is going on around the world, it really was great to hear those bombs breaking in air and to hear Pearl Bailey sing "The Star Spangled Banner" in such gorgeous tones.

IF EVER ANYONE was entitled to a brickbat or a Bronx cheer, Peter Arrigoni was when he told that board-appointed committee to stay out of the board room on Tuesdays. Not a board member was reported to have objected. Like the jingle, "That's what I like about lamb." That's what I mean about "tham" when I call 'em the throne room gang.

Inflated ego doesn't begin to describe it.

HAVE A LISTEN to this: Giacomini and Roumiguere are now urging a watchdog committee to ride herd on the auditorium and fairground activity (on page 1). On age 18 they are giving an agricultural advisory committee a tongue-lashing for bringing in recommendations that didn't please the combined highnesses.

Sol Silver is again back in the news wanting more of those dollars of yours for the general plan. Seems like the planning commission isn't happy to see all that money ($4 million) proposed by the administrator for capital improvements without $1.5 million being dumped in the trough for them to splash around in.

You had better pay attention to what that ball game is all about or there will be some bombs bursting in your pocket book, comes next tax-paying day.

Hope you have a nice Easter.

Small Band Of Attorneys Promotes Prison Violence

By RUS WALTON

A small band of attorneys, dedicated to revolutionary goals, has had an important role in the increasing violence and terror that splashes our prisons and spills into our streets.

And because they have refused or failed to curb or clean out those ultra-liberal lawyers — who are officers of the court and members of the bar — the State Supreme Court and the California Bar Association must share the blame.

AMONG THOSE ATTORNEYS most active in incidents involving radical inmates and prison violence were at least 15 members of the National Lawyers Guild. The NLG and the Prison Lawyers Association, its vehicle for penetrating the penal system, are well-known to prison officials at Folsom, San Quentin, Chino and Soledad.

A former president of the guild's San Francisco Bay Area Chapter is Marvin Stender, husband of Berkeley attorney Fay Stender. Mrs. Stender is generally credited with securing Black Panther Huey Newton's release from prison. Her name appears frequently and prominently in records covering activities at many California prisons. Several of her associates and "legal assistants" have been implicated in questionable contracts with inmates.

Prison authorities are convinced that attorney Stephen Bingham smuggled a gun to San Quentin convict George Jackson on Aug. 21, 1971. Hours later, Jackson and four others were killed in an escape attempt. Bingham is wanted on five counts of murder and a federal warrant for unlawful flight to avoid prosecution. On Aug. 21, 1971, Bingham was associated with Fay Stender.

ONE OF THE FIRST to dig into the link between radical lawyers and prison inmates was Lewis K. Uhler, former director of the state Office of Economic Opportunity.

In late 1970, Uhler refused to approve renewal of a federal grant to California Rural Legal Assistance. In a 283-page report, Uhler and his staff strongly criticized "CRLA's Activities and Involvement in California's Prisons." The left wing went to great lengths to discredit Uhler's report, but names of attorneys he listed cropped up in subsequent documents concerning prison violence.

Prior to 1972, mail from a prison inmate to a member of the court or the state bar was opened to check for contraband and to ascertain that the letter was actually to or from the designated official.

In 1971, two inmates (Robert Jordan Jr. at the state prison in San Luis Obispo and Eugene Grady, at San Quentin) challenged those rules. They complained to the court that opening their letters to attorneys violated their constitutional rights.

Arguing the case before the State Supreme Court, the attorney general's office contended that checking such mail was essential to prison security and the safety of staff and inmates. The AG cited a long list of cases wherein such correspondence had been used illegally to contact other inmates or ex-felons on the outside and to incite riots or strikes and promote revolution.

PRISON OFFICIALS knew that not all letters from attorneys to inmates, or vice versa, were of legal nature. A letter to inmate Otis Tugwell from the San Francisco Neighborhood Legal Assistance Foundation was marked "The attorney/client privileges are hereby asserted." It started out:

"I don't think that we are going to have any problem in arriving at the conclusion that revolution is a necessary phenomenon in the United States." It went on to discuss "mobilization and organization" for revolution.

On another occasion, a letter from an inmate to his attorney suggested that the next time the inmate's small son visited San Quentin he should have a toy gun in his jacket. If the guards did not search the boy, that might be the way to smuggle a real gun on the next visit.

ON SEPT. 15, 1972, the State Supreme Court unanimously held for the inmates. Since then, attorney-client mail has gone in and out of prison unopened.

And revolutionary activities and violence and death in the prisons has been on the rise. Yet, neither the court nor the California Bar Association seems inclined to put the clamps on that small band of attorneys that is aiding and abetting violence and revolution.

"I always knew there had to be more than one."

Column Lays Easter Eggs —Kind With Dioramas Inside

What do you call those hollow Easter eggs made of sugar and water paste that you squirt into and see tiny chickens and ducks?

That was the subject of a long debate last Saturday in the Independent-Journal newsroom during a caption writing session for some pictures of school children making those eggs.

Vaguely I remember calling them "dioramas" as a kid, but everyone else insisted I was all wet.

Several calls to candy and gift shops turned up some stores that handle the eggs, but no one who sold them knew what to call them.

Saturday editor Pat Angle called long distance to her mother, who used to make them when she was young, and got the name "panoramic eggs." Since Pat was the editor, that was the word we used.

Peek-a-boo eggs?
Faberje eggs?
Scenic eggs?
Kaleidoscopic eggs?

You know — the hard ones that would break your teeth if you tried to eat them. They sit on the shelf or in a drawer until the ants get at them.

Signups for 15 summer programs ranging from youngsters' day camp to climbing 14,395-foot Mount Whitney are open at the Marin County Young Men's Christian Association.

Participants needn't be Y members, the staff stressed yesterday in announcing the varied programs. However, members receive a discount on fees for the many activities.

Although most of the programs are for youngsters from 5 years old through the teens, the Y will sponsor family camping sessions over Memorial Day and Labor Day weekends, a Rogue River raft trip for young adults and couples and tennis and swimming classes for women.

An eight-page brochure listing all of the camps, wilderness trips, classes and seminars with fees and other data is available in the Y office, 241 North San Pedro Road, San Rafael.

Even Kindergarten Is Puzzling On Family Night

By ROB TREICHLER

Big happenings over at the neighborhood school last night. Family night. Everyone goes over to see just what it is the kids have been up to all year.

It's educational, though. And fun. Family night provides an annual reaffirmation of the wondrous adaptability of the human body. A species which can adapt to and survive 45 minutes in kindergarten size chairs will survive anything, including oil crisis and ecological disasters. "Daddy, how come you're sitting sideways in my chair?"

There are always discussions concerning the new math. I've had new math explained to me annually now for seven years, and I know I've really got it until one kid or the other asks a question. "What do you put in the 10s place when you subtract 28 from 35?" sets me to mumbbling for another year.

THEY'VE DONE AWAY with English. It's now communications skills, which sounds to me like talking on the phone. Composition is now "creative writing."

There are still some eternal, comforting verities in the field of education. "Yes, son. Columbus discovered America in 1492. Now let daddy read the paper while you do the rest of your homework." I feel good when I can handle it like that.

But everything else changes so quickly. Kindergarteners bake cookies, raise fish, plant flowers, run tape recorders and use the school library — pardon, resource center — on their own. I was considered a "fast learner" because I could count to 10, recite the entire alphabet and blow my nose before I went on to first grade.

Schools look different, too. Red carpets on the floor. Television sets. Sliding dividers instead of walls. Green blackboards — or would that be greenboards? No rows of desks, just easily movable chairs and tables. And projects, charts and graphs on all the usable divider space.

THE TEACHERS look different, too. Lots of fathers found reason to talk to one of the kindergarten teachers. Even though their youngest might be in fifth grade. Curve hugging midi. Purple lenses in mod wire frame glasses, long, long blonde hair falling loosely beto wash down the goodies. "We're studying Japan and the little cookies are made out of seaweed."

Class projects on display. Lucky kindergarten parents can see illustrations and listen to tape recordings of reenacted favorite nightmares.

WE GET AN EARNEST presentation from the PTA — it is now the Home and School Club — on why we should support the next bond election. The bell finally rings, and family night is over.

Another year. I have blown the opportunity again. My son is asking me questions about problems in "base eight." Base eight is just like base 10, if you happen to be missing two fingers.

Maybe the nice kindergarten lady would tutor new math?

Police Copter Lands On Tracks

ATLANTA (UPI) — A police helicopter made an emergency landing on railroad tracks yesterday, forcing a Southern Railway freight train to make a quick stop.

Officer Boyd Clines, the pilot, said the engine failed and he had to land the helicopter on the tracks.

Policemen stationed themselves down the tracks and flagged down the freight.

"I didn't have any trouble," said engineer B.L. Motes, "I always have my foot on the brakes on that curve anyway."

A police department crane removed the copter and the freight train continued on its way.

New Grotto Reaction Varied But Food's As Good As Ever

There is no end to the things you can do with seafoods.

Fish you can pan fry, deep fry, saute, grill, bake, poach or steam. You can stuff them with shrimp or crab or both, and you might even do the reverse without raising a questionable eyebrow.

Different seafoods go together better than most meats do, and chefs delight in working up new combinations — witness the various cioppinos, bouillabaisse and seafood platters. It seems nature gave about everything that is native to the water an affinity for most of its neighbors, allowing them to combine with or complement one another appetizingly. With a few exceptions, the same can't be said of beef, lamb, pork, chicken and duck.

Seafoods combine well with vegetables and even some fruits. Ursula Valan at the Grotto in San Rafael has cooked up another new dish that's rapidly catching on — baked avocado stuffed with curried shrimp. It's quite delicious, but then people who enjoy seafood are usually interested in such new combinations. This keeps Ursula busy trying out new ideas.

Categorically, of course, seafoods are no longer exactly inexpensive items on your food lists. At the top are such things as lobster, abalone and crab. And these happen to be favorite choice with many diners, who still count them worth the increased cost. Lobster is up to the same level now as a choice New York steak — or even higher.

More reasonable buys are in the fresh catches — red snapper, sole, sea bass, mahi mahi — when they are available — salmon, too — all of them nourishing and satisfying. And the way the Grotto prepares salmon, grilled or poached, you're very unlikely to run across a bone.

Obviously, one restaurant cannot be all things to all people. And in moving from Lincoln Avenue to the Redwood Highway about 11 months ago Stan and Ursula Valan knew that some of their frequent downtown San Rafael customers might be seen less often, even lost. In return they banked on getting new customers in a more advantageous and modern facility. And since running a restaurant is like any business in which the whole idea is to make a living, have a little left over and with luck acquire a little more free time, they took the only logical course open to them.

The pace has quickened appreciably — in the dining room, in the kitchen and in the bar. And the Valans haven't acquired that free time they had hoped for. There are more customers and sometimes there is more of a wait for a table and there is more grousing. Some say there isn't the intimacy there used to be, although I do not go along with this. It can't be helped. Comes a time to expand or stay little. What would your choice have been?

On the beneficial side to the customers, the Grotto is nicer than it was and more interesting and better laid out. The bar is better; there's a lounge where you can wait and nibble hors d'oeuvres. Parking is easier. And the food? It's as good as it ever was — and that's what is important.

TAKING THEIR ORDERS — The William O'Byrne family of San Anselmo discuss their orders with waitress Mary Ann Brown and Ursula Valan (right), who along with her husband, Stanley, own and operate The

CHANGES TAKING PLACE at 112 Spaulding Avenue, San Anselmo are notable. This is the new restaurant to be known as Chef Pierre — last known as the Cafe Ambrosia.

New owner Pierre Bitterer will not be ready to open next Monday as he had hoped, but he swears by all his flambees that he will do so on Thursday night, April 18. He's really doing the place over wall to wall and from floor to ceiling. You'll hardly recognize it with its new brown and beige motif, new chandeliers, new furnishings and other touches.

Menu, as previously mentioned, will be haute cuisine Francaise and dinners will be served Mondays through Saturdays from 5:30 to 11 p.m. The outside is being done over, too, and there will be parking on the roof of the building below, as there used to be.

Pierre was at this location once before several years ago. He knows the place well and what needs to be done.

If you are thinking of going there on opening night or the following Friday or Saturday (closed Sundays) — or for that matter, any other night — make an advance reservation.

NOW CLOSED FOR REMODELING and a complete change of operation is 909 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael. Co-owners Karl and Edith Klauda and Adolf and Feli Winkler have sold out their Old Vienna business and their corporation. Karl has been in the hospital for an operation on his leg. He'll have to take it easy for a while before he goes back to being a chef and standing long hours on his feet.

New owners are Franz Prosegger of Mill Valley and Yves Laruinat of San Francisco. Franz has been in the electronics business, but was a restaurant man in Paris years ago. Yves is French and has excellent credits as a chef in Paris and in San Francisco. So the cuisine here will no longer be Austrian but French. The name will be changed to La Marmite, which refers to an old type of French cooking pot.

Dinners — no lunches — will Grotto at 3751 Redwood Highway, across from the Marin Civic Center. The Valans have used a nautical theme in their dining rooms.

be served in a $5.75 - $8.50 price range. There are about 13 dinner selections plus a la carte. The restaurant, planned to open about the end of the month, will serve from 6 p.m. and close Tuesdays.

SAUSALITO INN has picked up several former members of the staff of Rico's (now closed). Bernard Connolly is chef, as he was at Rico's. Mary Jenkins and Barbara Rego are also doing what they used to do — serving at the tables. And of course, still at Sausalito Inn's tables three or four days a week is the fabulous Nanny Mandell, now over 80.

Changes in the menu at this Sausalito restaurant include a $2.95 special dinner with salad and wine Mondays through Thursdays and also some kind of dinner special on Friday nights.

THAT BUSY TIME for restaurants — Easter — is upon us and you will find many of your favorite places open and serving. Those places that ordinarily ask for reservations will call for them now, so be prepared for possible table waiting during the later evening hours. Here are a few places that have announced their plans:

BLACK POINT INN's Easter dinner will begin at 4:30 p.m. and service will continue until 9. Jess Fisher is offering $3.95 to $5.45 complete dinners, including soup, salad, dessert and coffee. Choice of entrees will be half of a roast chicken, roast lamb, roast ham and cross rib roast.

THE NORMANDIE on the San Rafael Miracle Mile will serve dinner from 4 p.m., using the regular menu. And starting Easter, a regular Sunday brunch will be served here from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. Definitely make reservations for everything.

ANNUAL EASTER DINNER at Rubini's in Fairfax will also start at 4 p.m. Chef and co-owner Gordon Jones will prepare a special menu.

LE TONNEAU in Corte Madera will open for Easter dinner at 4 p.m. on Sunday, serving both its regular menu and a spring leg of lamb. After Sunday the dining room will close throughout the following week so chef Bernard Epstein and his food staff can take a vacation. However, the bar will remain open daily from 4 p.m. to 2 a.m.

LARK CREEK INN in Larkspur will serve from 4 to about 9:45 p.m. Leg of lamb will be offered, also a seafood special. No reservations. With good weather the creekside tables should be in use in a few weeks. And Lark Creek is planning to serve Sunday brunches about the same time.

A 'Big Name' Wins Divorce

LONDON (UPI) — One of the biggest names in Britain won a divorce Wednesday.

Jonathan Nicholas Vivien Francis Hilary Boise Randolph Montague Jarvis Hyacinth Bertram St. John Aubin-Gale d'La Courtie divorced his wife Pauline on grounds they had been living apart for more than two years.

A 43-year-old artist who has been married five times, Aubin-Gale d'La Courtie said he had been given his many names by relatives.

"I could only inherit their money if I kept their names alive," he said. "In fact, they left debts."

Boyle Guilty Of Murder Charges

MEDIA, Pa. (UPI) — A jury convicted W.A. (Tony) Boyle yesterday of setting in motion the 1969 Yablonski murders and financing the killings with union funds while he was president of the United Mine Workers.

Boyle, 72, who ruled the violent union from 1960 to 1970, was the ninth and final defendant to be convicted in the four years since UMW leader Joseph A. (Jock) Yablonski, his wife and daughter were shot to death while they slept in their Clarksville, Pa., home.

The verdict climaxed one of the nation's most complex murder investigations, begun by the careless discarding of beer cans by paid killers on the night of the slayings.

Boyle, recuperating from a drug overdose taken shortly after he was indicted last September on federal charges in the case, sat passively while the jury was polled. His only action was a sad wave to his wife and daughter before leaving the courtroom in a wheelchair.

Defense attorney Charles Moses, in his only emotional outburst of the trial, demanded

W. A. (TONY) BOYLE
Union chief convicted guilty of three counts of first degree murder in the Dec. 31, 1969, slayings. He faces automatic life sentences on each count under Pennsylvania law.

Kenneth Yablonski, a son who discovered his family's bodies on Jan. 5, 1970, embraced special prosecutor Richard Sprague in the courtroom, saying: "You can't know how I thank you."

Sprague, who directed the prosecution from the case's beginning, said the results showed how "effective law enforcement can get to people at the top."

"Mr. Boyle was the initiator of this crime and he was the beginning, and we've gone from the end and traced it back to the beginning, and an American jury has decided," Sprague said.

In each of the six Yablonski murder jury trials, Sprague in-

Boyle told him and Pass he wanted Yablonski killed during a meeting in June of 1969, shortly after Yablonski announced he would challenge Boyle for the union presidency.

Boyle, deposed as UMW president in 1972 by Arnold Miller during a court ordered re-election, is now serving a federal prison sentence for misusing union funds for political campaigns. He has been confined to the Springfield, Mo., prison hospital since the overdose incident.

HER DESK spread with material she uses as volunteer concert master for the Marin Music Chest, Mathilda (Til) Riznik of Ross makes one of the many telephone calls required to arrange the Music Chest's concert series. Her calls are to New York managers and agents, for reserving or renting the auditorium, arranging lighting and ordering pianos. The position also requires driving performers to and from the airport, checking props and lighting and acquiescing to some unusual requests from performers.

MARIN MUSIC CHEST

Three Concerts Will Cap Volunteer's Long Hours

Impresarios such as the late Sol Hurok may be old hands at setting up concert appearances and catering to whims and fancies of demanding performers, but it's a new and fascinating experience to Mrs. Carl Riznik of Ross, who since last Spring has been the volunteer concert master for the Marin Music Chest.

The results of her efforts will be viewed by audiences attending the Music Chest's three 2:30 p.m. Sunday concerts at the Marin Veterans Memorial Building this summer.

During the past year she has worked long hours writing and telephoning New York managers and agents, reserving and renting the auditorium, arranging the lighting, ordering pianos, preparing performer's contracts and acquiescing to a few unusual requests.

Sitting in her green and white kitchen, Mathilda (Til) Riznik said she and her husband in past seasons have not only driven visiting concert stars to and from the airport but also have complied with requests to "tour San Francisco's Haight-Ashbury district, North Beach's topless joints" and last summer to keep a world-famous diva supplied with large bottles of cola.

SAN FRANCISCO-born Til Riznik's introduction to the world of music began when she studied piano and dancing as a schoolgirl. Later she began attending recitals at the city's old Dreamland and San Francisco Opera performances at the Civic Auditorium where "true music fans sat on the balcony's concrete steps."

Following their marriage 39 years ago, the Rizniks moved to Ross, where she joined the Thursday Musical Club and became a Marin Music Chest volunteer ringing doorbells soliciting subscriptions for the annual spring drive.

The Music Chest had been organized in 1933 at a mass meeting in the old Marin Junior College gymnasium after the late Wagnerian diva Maude Fay Symington explained her dream "to bring the greatest music in the world to the greatest number of people at the lowest possible prices."

From the beginning the Music Chest's annual concert series has been supported by its annual subscription drive where subscribers purchase concert tickets at a reduced rate and by box office sales and donations. Five per cent of the funds is set aside for scholarships for promising young musicians and dancers.

By the time Til Riznik joined the Music Chest in the mid-1930s, summer concerts were being presented at Forest Meadows on the Dominican College campus.

She was soon named subscription drive chairman for Ross and subsequently county-wide drive chairman during the years the late Mrs. (Caroline) Norman B. Livermore served as Music Chest president.

IN THOSE days, she said, "from January on, my dining room table looked like a desk in political campaign headquarters with cut-up precinct lists" stacked for volunteers to use in the door-to-door Music Chest subscription drive.

In 1967-68 she served as Music Chest president.

Following the death last spring of Kitty Oppenheimer, a Music Chest founder who served from the beginning as both secretary and concert manager, Mrs. Riznik volunteered to step in and take over the concert master duties.

A few months later she faced her first crisis when pianist Christoph Eschenbach failed to appear for his July 22 concert date. While the audience sat waiting for the performer to arrive she was on the telephone calling all the Bay Area hotels trying to locate the missing pianist.

When this proved unsuccessful the audience had to be sent home and the ticket money returned.

The next day Mrs. Riznik said, a cable arrived from Eschenbach in the Canary Islands saying he had been unable to get a work visa to perform in this country.

IN SEPTEMBER a special concert featuring another pianist was given for the Music Chest subscribers.

Last December, Til Riznik went to work on this year's concert series by contacting agents and managers across the country, trying to line up guest artists.

The performers are always paid their usual fees, she explained, which today is usually $3,600. Those asking $8,500 are out of reach.

If an East Coast artist happens to be booked into the Hollywood Bowl during the summer, she said, "we have a good chance of getting him to appear in San Rafael since he's already in California."

Next she went to work to reserve three Sundays at the Marin Veterans Memorial Building.

When she had all the facts and figures she appeared before the Music Chest's 16-member artistic council who approve the artists and agreed to pay the performers their asking fees and the auditorium rental fee, plus expenses for lights, box office and backstage work.

After writing letters of confirmation, she prepared contracts, publicity kits of biographies and photographs for press releases and arranged for a piano to be sent from a San Rafael store "that delivers on Sunday."

The result of these labors will be the appearance of the San Francisco Ballet on June 9; violinist Stuart Canin, concertmaster with the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra, on July 14 and the Cuban-born pianist Horacio Gutierrez on Aug. 18.

BUT HER work is far from finished.

Next she must make hotel reservations for and arrange to meet Gutierrez at the San Francisco International Airport; arrange for stage lighting, placement of the piano and have a smooth-surfaced floor installed in time for the ballet performance.

The day of the concert usually has her arriving at the auditorium at 8 a.m. to check props and lighting. When this is finished, she said, she stands by waiting to fetch things ranging from drinks and food to cigarettes and facial tissues for performers.

Her vigil ends when the performers are homeward bound.

Asked if she would be willing to work as concert master next year, she smiled and commented, "if they ask me."

Other luncheon guests will be the three scouts who traveled abroad last summer in the program, Lura Daniels of Oakland, who visited Our Chalet in Switzerland; Rochelle Sarro of San Bruno and Robin Lou of San Francisco, who visited Taiwan.

Miss Bennett has just been selected to visit Canada next summer in the program.

Nation's Farm Women Seeking Equality, Too

CHICAGO (AP) — The nation's farm women appear to be joining their city sisters in wanting equality and the erasure of the "traditional role" of women.

According to a poll by Prairie Farmer, a leading rural magazine, farm women in Illinois and Indiana are two to one in favor of women taking any job they can handle. The ration is three to one among women under 40 with some college training.

Better than three-quarters of the farm women polled felt their husbands should help out in the house at least occasionally. However, slightly less than three-quarters of the men actually did. Age was not a factor here. Young and old alike thought their husbands should pitch in.

In a separate poll, about one-third of the women questioned answer "no" when asked whether they would vote for a qualified female presidential candidate. Among farm women with some college, about one-quarter voted "no."

Chairman Named For Music Chest

Mrs. Ragnar L. Thanning of San Rafael is chairman of the Marin Music Chest subscription drive.

Committee members are offering tickets to the 1974 series of summer concerts, held on Sunday afternoons at the Marin Veterans Memorial Building.

All funds raised by advance subscriptions are used for artists' fees and scholarships for ballet, instrumental and vocal students.

ON THE AGENDA

'Art In The Bible' Is Topic Of Lecture And Slide Show

A lecture and slides on "Art in the Bible" will be presented by Jo Berman Milgrom at 8 p.m. Thursday, sponsored by the Sisterhood of Congregation Kol Shofar. The program will be held at Casa Marinwood Community House, 11 Grande Paseo, San Rafael.

The wife of the congregation's rabbi, Mrs. Milgrom received the master of arts degree from the University of California and she lectured at the Magnes Museum in Berkeley in 1972-73.

Guests will be welcome, according to committee members Mmes. Julius Lepkovsky and Irving Zale.

"TEACHER TENURE and Accountability" will be the subject for a discussion at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday, sponsored by the Ross Valley Council of Parents and Teachers at the Corte Madera Library.

Dr. Virgil Hollis, Marin County superintendent of schools, will be the guest speaker.

A luncheon will follow the program at the Blue Rock Inn in Larkspur.

A PROGRAM on breast cancer will be presented by the Marin Mastectomy Service Club at noon Wednesday at the home of Miriam Lindquist, 27 Sorrento Way, San Rafael.

Featured speaker will be Dr. Nicholas Petrakis of the George Williams Hopper Foundation, University of California Medical Center in San Francisco.

Dessert will be served during the meeting.

"HOUSE PLANT Education" will be discussed by "plant doctor" Renee Hochman at the spring luncheon of the Femineers at Corinthian Yacht Club, Tiburon, on Wednesday.

A social hour will begin at 11:30 a.m., and luncheon will be served at 12:30 p.m. The Femineers membership is composed of wives of members of the Structural Engineers Association of Northern California and the American Society of Civil Engineers San Francisco Section.

Mrs. Michael Paszker of Mill Valley is Marin chairman, and Mrs. Raymond G. Miller of San Francisco is reservations chairman.

NOVATO JUNIOR Women's Club members will hold their annual rummage sale from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Thursday and April 19, and from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. April 20, at 859 Diablo Street in Novato.

Items will include small electrical appliances, furniture, glassware, plants, clothing, toys, jewelry, linens and shoes.

Mrs. Robert Leveroni, chairman, and Mrs. Loren Pincus, co-chairman, are collecting rummage articles.

Correspondent Will Give Talk

Foreign correspondent Robert S. Elegant will speak on "Asia After Vietnam," next Friday at 10:30 a.m. at the Marin Veterans Memorial Building. His talk is the final program of the 1973-74 A. M. series.

Elegant writes a column from Hong Kong for the Washington Post-Los Angeles Times News Service syndicate to 350 newspapers. He has received three Overseas Press Club Annual Awards, the Sigma Delta Chi award for foreign reporting, the Columbia Journalism Distinguished Service Award and the Edgar Allen Poe Award from the Mystery Writers of America.

Prior to becoming foreign affairs columnist for the Times-Post News Service, he was Southeast Asian correspondent for Newsweek magazine.

In 1951 he was awarded a Pulitzer Traveling Fellowship and took intensive courses in Chinese and Japanese languages. He served as a war correspondent in Korea after completing the courses, then spent two years on a Ford

Four Marinites To Attend Conference

Four Marin women will be among the more than 50 participants in the first statewide Conference on Volunteers in the Criminal Justice System to be held Wednesday through next Friday in Fresno.

Attending the conference will be Catherine Viner of Mill Valley, Eunice Ray of San Anselmo, Gladys Gilliland of San Rafael and Jody Becker of Ross.

The conference will be sponsored by the California Youth Authority Model Volunteer Project and the Advisory Committee on Volunteer Services. In addition to volunteers the conference will be attended by criminal justice staff members and ex-offenders.

The conference aim is to give impetus to the use of volunteers in California and assist volunteers and criminal justice agencies to work together more effectively for the community, according to the chairman, Mrs. Beulah Spencer of San Gabriel.

Catherine Viner received a financial award from the Marin County Juvenile Officers Association to attend the conference. She is a student at California State University, San Francisco, and was recognized for her work at Marin County Juvenile Hall, where she leads

Women In Politics Sum Up Concerns

By JOAN LISETOR

Housing and development in Marin County were the major concerns of both the panelists and the audience attending a forum, "Women in Marin Politics," held yesterday at Temple Rodef Shalom in San Rafael.

Panelists were six women serving on city councils in Marin County, Jean Barnard of Mill Valley, Jana Haele of Corte Madera, Joan Sestak of Larkspur, Gail Wilhelm of Novato and Robin Sweeney and Violeta Autumn, both of Sausalito.

Moderator of the panel was Elaine Rosen, program chairman of the Sisterhood of Congregation Rodef Shalom, sponsors of the forum. Mrs. Rosen asked each councilman why she had gone into politics and what she thought she had accomplished.

"Women enter politics because of their great capacity for pain," said Mrs. Autumn, who was elected last month to the city council in Sausalito. "The reason I entered is I saw beautiful green hills when I walked in Sausalito. Then one day I was walking and I saw a bulldozer."

SHE SPOKE out against development at city council meetings and was later appointed to the Sausalito Planning Commission, she said. It was her husband's urging that got her into the city council race this year.

"It is more common for men to have ego problems as a reason for going into politics," said Mrs. Barnard, former Mill Valley Mayor. "Women are new (at politics) and are more objective and are not going into it to further their own careers."

Mrs. Barnard gave what she termed her negative reason for entering politics — disappointment with the candidates she had helped get elected. On the positive side, she said, "I think it is born into you to be interested in politics."

Mrs. Haele was drawn into politics through her activities with other candidates and community groups. After she was elected president of her homeowners association she began attending city council meetings and joined with a group of women to establish the Corte Madera Town Meeting.

Mrs. Haele was first elected to the council last year, when a recall movement removed from office the pro developer candidates. She was reelected last month.

"I began to ask myself, 'Who is entitled to control the growth in Corte Madera, the people or outside developers?' The council refused to put an open space bond issue before the people."

This act spurred the recall movement in which she took an active role, and it was that movement that inspired her to run for office.

"MY POLITICAL education is just beginning," she said.

"The common thread among women in office now is involvement with issues," said Larkspur Mayor Mrs. Sestak. "Three years ago the people in Larkspur were apathetic, and drastic development was taking place. The population had doubled in a short time, and no one was caring."

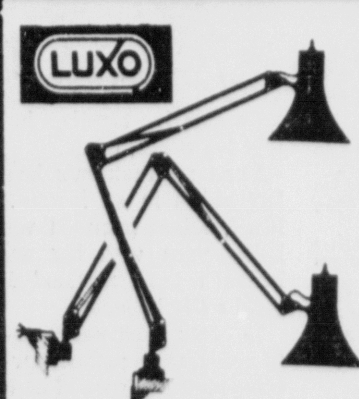

She organized the Larkspur Town Meeting, formed a watchdog committee of people to attend planning commission and city council meetings and encouraged people to run for office who shared her philosophy and were sensitive to the same type of city planning as she, she said. The following year she decided herself to run. She has worked on city beautification projects since her election in 1972, because "the physical change gives people a greater sense of community."

"I am a nurse, a housewife and a mother, and still find the time to serve on the city council."

HELEN HELP US!

Grown Children Believe Lonely Dad Needs A Woman's Company

DEAR HELEN: Ten years ago our mother died, leaving Dad with five children to raise, ranging in age from 10 to 17 years. He worked very hard to give us a good life.

Now Dad is in his early 60s and we children are all married. We visit him often, but he's still lonely and gets depressed. He neglects his appearance, and his health.

We respect his love for our mother, but we wish he would find someone who would revive his interest in life. How can we tell him we think a woman friend — maybe a wife — would help, without having him think we no longer love or need him?

Are we asking for trouble if we try to play matchmaker? — MEG

DEAR MEG: You should have started playing matchmaker long ago!

...And don't just tell your father he needs a woman friend. See to it that he meets one... or two... or three. Get him out of his old clothes and into sharp new styles. Plan parties which include the widowed mothers of your friends. Do some research on hobby clubs, singles groups, square-dancing classes, tours, and steer him toward them. Show him that 60 is young, and life is to be enjoyed.

...And don't give up when he seems resistive at first. You can teach an old dog new tricks, but it takes longer. — H.

DEAR HELEN: Could you please again give the address where you register so that you can donate your organs or your body to science after you die? — WANTS TO HELP THE LIVING

DEAR WHTTL: The Living Bank, 6631 South Main St., P.O. Box 6725, Houston, Tex., 77005, will send, upon request, a free registration form and donor card together with instructions for completion.

The registration form is returned to the Living Bank

Topics will vary next week on the "Jorie Talks" shows Monday through Friday at 8:30 a.m. on KTMM.

Filmmaker and author Leonard C. Schwarz of Mill Valley will be the guest on Monday and Tuesday, discussing women's roles in movies and the "Katharine Hepburn Film Festival" which will begin Tuesday at the College of Marin.

Wednesday's guest will be Dickinson Buell of Corte Madera, technical director of the Westwind International Folk Ensemble, which will be held at Chabot College in Hayward next Friday through April 21.

Mrs. Mervyn D. Cole of Tiburon will recall memories of the 1906 earthquake and fire on Thursday's show. She was 12 years old at the time of the temblor.

On Friday Robert Meyer of Larkspur will discuss the revival of interest in brass rubbings as an art form. An exhibit of his work is on display at the Corte Madera Library.

June Vows Planned By Couple

The engagement of Barbara Lynn Ulrich of Corvallis, Ore., to Walter Lee Aman of Portland, Ore., has been announced.

Barbara is the daughter of Mrs. Charles E. Cooper of San Rafael and the late Stanley D. Ulrich, and she is the sister of Stephen Fair Ulrich and Shari Ulrich.

She is a graduate of San Rafael High School, attended the College of Marin and the California College of Arts and Crafts and is a student at Oregon State University.

Walter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Aman of Portland, attended Portland State University and the University of San Francisco. He also is a student at Oregon State University.

The couple plans to be married June 9 at the Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross.

Hostess Club Picks Slate

Mrs. Allen Verza of Novato has been elected president of the Novato Hostess Club.

A six-year member of the club, Kathleen Verza said the club is a social and service organization. Projects for the year are a rummage sale in the spring, picnic, luncheon and Reno trip in the fall and a Christmas dinner dance.

The new president is also a member of the Novato Boy's Club Auxiliary and West Novato Parent-Teacher Association. She was born in New York City, N.Y., and she and her husband, a civil engineer with the Army Corps of Engineers, have two children. Michael is 6 and Darian 2 years old. Arts and Crafts, skiing, bowling, sewing and gardening are Mrs. Verza's hobbies.

Officers elected to serve with Mrs. Verza are Mmes. Johnnie Ray, Vice president; Peter Evens, recording secretary; Eugene Zapparelli, corresponding secretary, and Peter Press, treasurer.

ON BEING BLACK

Eye Job Trends Before College

By SANDRA HAGGERTY The Christian Science Monitor News Service

SALT LAKE CITY — Here's an open letter to black college students:

When some of your parents and I were going through college, the "safe professions" for black folks were teaching and nursing. If you couldn't get a teaching position "up north," you could always go south and teach in the black schools. Or an education major certainly knew how to alphabetize mail at the post office.

If you majored in nursing but, due to limited finances, had to drop out, you could always become a nurse's aid. This was the dead-end position of the nursing ranks, but helping the sick (even at a pitiful salary) and on the graveyard shift) was certainly noble work.

Today, thanks to such "safe profession" counseling, many professions have too few qualified blacks within their ranks. For instance, mass communication is a competitive and powerful field. But 20 years ago it was a total waste of time for blacks to major in journalism, radio or television. They could not expect to get jobs with the major white press. The black press was microscopic, and the white press was white.

AS MORE and more of you enter colleges and select professions, make certain you learn about employment trends. Most fields have equal opportunity status today, but it is necessary to choose the right profession. Match your aptitudes and interests with the real rather than the imagined needs of society.

Seek out all possible career information. What kinds of expertise will this country (world) need in the future? What about population and ecological concerns? Which professions will be affected by a decreasing birthrate? With the inner cities facing various deprivations, what areas of urban planning need to be explored? Which skills (like typing) are automatically necessary in most all professions?

Don't rely on one source — shop around for information. College counselors are helpful. So are (free) employment counselors in local state employment offices (Department of Human Resources). Make an appointment and take time to talk about projected job trends. Find out which fields are saturated, which are open and the projected life expectancy of each. Other sources of information are people already practicing in the profession. Simply call and ask.

Dinner Will Be Held For Newlyweds

Mr. and Mrs. Godfrey Dee Grissell will be honored at a family dinner and reception Easter Sunday at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George William Gural of San Anselmo.

The former Lisa Diann Gural and Godfrey were married Monday in San Francisco in a small ceremony and left on a wedding trip to Death Valley. They will live in San Anselmo.

Lisa is a graduate of Sir Francis Drake High School and is a student in the registered nursing program at the College of Marin.

She is the sister of Mrs. Judith Gent of San Anselmo and Mrs. Laurie Little of San Rafael. Her grandparents are Mrs. Florence Barnes of San Rafael and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hallenberg of San Anselmo.

Godfrey is the son of Mrs. George Grissell of San Anselmo and the late Mr. Grissell, and the brother of Edward Eric Grissell of Gainesville, Fla. He also is a graduate of Drake High School, attended the College of Marin and is employed by Sherwood's Nursery in Fairfax.

Nurse Director Will Give Talk

Rosemary Neville, R.N., director of the North Bay Coastal Region of the California Nurses Association, will speak to Marin registered nurses at a meeting at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at Kaiser Foundation Hospital in San Rafael.

The informational meeting will explain the California Nurses Association formation of new regional organizations of nurses.

Above all, get a realistic view of the job market. Most of us cannot afford the luxury of working for "love of the activity" alone. It sounds great, but it won't pay your bills or put your kids through college.

cil," said Mrs. Sweeney, former Sausalito mayor. "I got into politics through my involvement with a small group of what would now be called environmentalists. We were opposed to a waterfront development project and were successful in getting for Sausalito a three-year moratorium on bay front development."

To people who say women going into politics who have families have a disadvantage, she talks about her daughters, now 14 and 17, who have "thrived on it."

"My children have become independent because they have duties that mom is not there to do. They have met senators, assemblymen, supervisors, and know they are just people. It has been a valuable experience," she said. "I don't think women should hesitate to go into politics because of their children. My children are better for it."

MRS. WILHELM, newly elected to the Novato City Council, said she received her first and most valuable training in politics from the League of Women Voters. She worked on campaigns for city council and supervisorial candidates, then was appointed to the Novato Planning Commission.

"The next two or three months will decide the direction the town will go regarding developing. There was discussion of joint use of Hamilton, and I served on a coalition organized to oppose the joint use. We gathered 6,000 signatures and turned the council and supervisors around. All it takes is organizing a feeling and turning it into action," she said.

The challenge is to convince developers not to change the hills to build houses but to build houses to fit the hills, she said.

SAN DOMENICO CONCERT — Student musicians Megan Oliver (left) and Denise Casette, both of San Rafael, rehearse for the seventh annual Orchestra da Camera concert to be given at San Domenico School in Sleepy Hollow on April 28.

Orchestra Da Camera Concert Set

San Domenico School will present its seventh annual Orchestra da Camera Concert April 28, featuring student and professional musicians and student choirs from the school and Terra Linda High School.

The concert will begin at 4 p.m. in Alumnae Hall on San Domenico's campus in Sleepy Hollow, according to Faith France, director of the school's music department. Admission will be free.

The concert will be performed by the San Domenico Chamber Players, the San Domenico Singers and Freshman Chorus, the music faculty and professional members of the San Francisco and Oakland symphony orchestras, under auspices of the Music Performance Trust Fund.

The program will include Prokofiev's "Overture on Hebrew Themes" with solos by San Domenico students Susan Corman of San Anselmo on clarinet and Carol Grigaut of San Rafael on piano; Mozart's Piano Concerto No. 23 with Evelyn Lust as soloist; Beethoven's Piano Concerto No. 1 with Bridget Conrad of Mill Valley as soloist; Mozart's Violin Concerto No. 3 with Diana Witt of Terra Linda as soloist, and Shostakovich's Piano Concerto No. 1, again with Miss Lust, San Domenico student from San Francisco.

The choruses will combine to sing works by Ives, Faure and Purvis.

Burglar Is Bitten By A Rabid Dog

LIMA, Peru (UPI) — Police said a burglar broke into a liquor distillery and while fleeing with money he was bitten by a rabid dog.

Police issued a call for the criminal to come to the city's only anti-rabies center. They said that immunization could save his life, but not his freedom.

Residence For Retarded Delayed

Faced with potentially bitter opposition from neighboring landowners, the Rohnert Park Planning Commission last night put off a decision on allowing 10 mentally retarded adults to live in a residential neighborhood.

Seeking a use permit is the Petaluma Association for the Retarded, which operates the Petaluma Training Center.

Director Richard Cates told planners the association wishes to lease a four-unit building on the east side of Country Club Drive, 80 feet south of Civic Center Drive, in the new Country Club Garden Estates development near the city office building.

The building would house 10 mildly retarded persons averaging 22 years of age and several supervisors, Cates said, in an effort to accustom the disabled persons to independent, self-supporting lives outside institutions.

Cates said the residence program is similar to others in Marin and San Francisco, and is partially funded by a federal grant.

While no opponents presented themselves at last night's session, several who said they owned nearby property sent letters to the planners.

One writer said he was opposed to "any variance" which would "place a group of retarded" in the neighborhood.

Another said the presence of retarded persons would cause a "drastic change" in the area and would be "a blow to those of us who have invested our money and gone deeply into debt to become property owners." He said retarded persons would be a threat to the "quiet, country-like atmosphere" he expected.

A third opponent said the project would interfere with the "They're workers and they're in our area."

"I'm absolutely appalled," Cates said after he heard the letters read. He told the planners a state law, passed in 1972, guarantees that "mentally retarded persons have the right to as normal a life as anyone else."

"These people will either be employed or preparing to become employed," he said.

Offer Reported For Nixon Papers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Otto Passman, D-La., says a group of 10 businessmen — including "two multimillionaires" — are serious about their offer to pay $1 million to President Nixon for his vice presidential papers.

Passman announced the offer yesterday. He said the men plan to form a syndicate to publish the papers.

Donna Giacomini Is Seriously Ill

Donna Giacomini of San Rafael, wife of County Recorder Noel T. Giacomini and mother of County Supervisor Gary T. Giacomini, is seriously ill in Marin General Hospital, friends reported yesterday.

Mrs. Giacomini underwent abdominal surgery twice in recent months, and entered the hospital a third time last week for treatment of complications. The family said her physician isn't allowing visitors at present.

with the property owners to explain his program in detail, the planners continued the hearing to April 25.

The Rohnert Park Planning Commission also:

REZONING — Denied without prejudice a rezoning request from the Wilshire Development Co., which for two months has been unable to present plans for its planned cluster development north of Golf Course Drive. The developers may reapply when their plans are ready.

CLINICS — Set for public hearing on May 9 a proposed zoning ordinance amendment allowing veterinary clinics in commercial zones, as do most other Bay Area communities.

LOT — Approved a request for a temporary parking lot at Sonoma Grove Mobile Home Park.

TRUCKS — Directed staff to consider ways to prohibit large commercial trucks from parking in residential areas.

COTATI — Notified Cotati officials that Rohnert Park has no objection to the expansion of Rancho Cotati Shopping Center on East Cotati Avenue, provided commercial and residential areas are kept well-separated.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned until 7:30 p.m. April 25.

RED CARPET, REALTORS® COUNSEL CORNER

Dear Mrs. Baron:

There are three basic considerations... your money, your future and your comforts. It is a fact that the average increase in value on single family residences in Marin County since 1969 has been 46%. A home that sold for $35,000 then is now selling for $51,000 or more! Interest rates in 1969 were at 8 3/4%, as they are today! So you can see, investing in a home today is a sound hedge against inflation, giving you financial security along with the comfort and pride of home ownership. Please feel free to call your nearest Red Carpet Office to discuss your specific requirements.

SCOUTS SOLVE PROBLEMS, LEARN TO LEAD

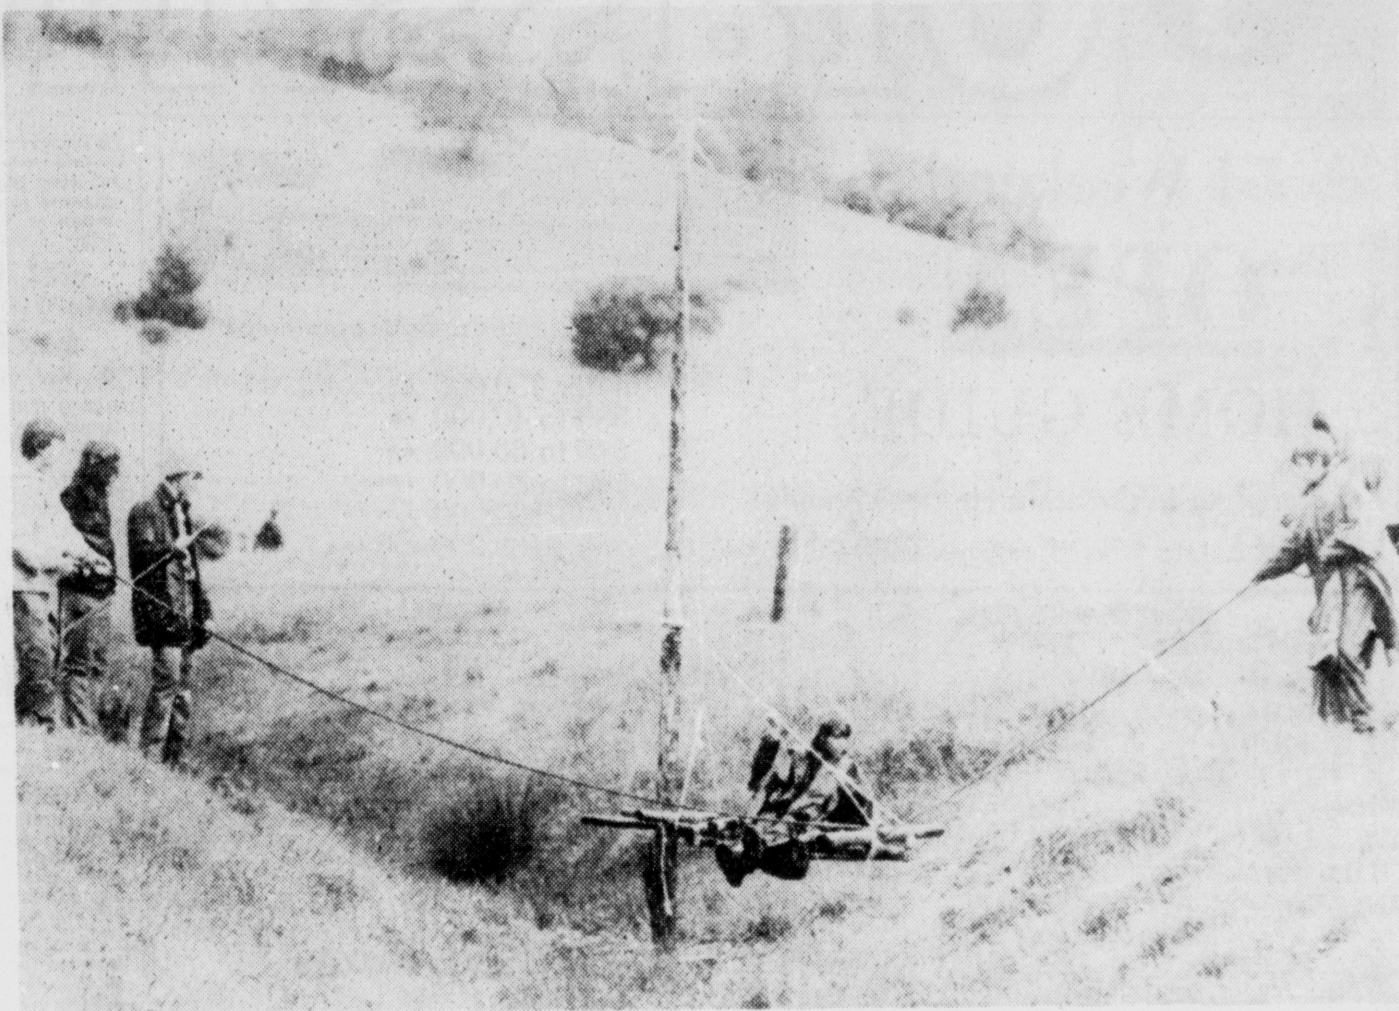

Confronted with crossing a body of water with only a stick framework, a piece of canvas and armsful of reeds, six Boy Scouts build a coracle raft at Camp Tamarancho. The Bobcat Patrol, all junior leaders in their respective troops, worked in pouring rain Tuesday on the problem-solving project. In foreground, from left, are Michael Ginsberg, 13, of Troop 25 and David Dutra, 15, of Troop 73; in background from left are Bryant Moynihan, 13, of Troop 18; Steven Westberg, 12, of Troop 48; Eric Schyberg, 15, of Troop 81 and Blain Beckmann, 13, of Troop 94.

ANOTHER PROBLEM — Bobcat Patrol members build a bridge with nothing but timbers and ropes, as another in the series of pioneering problems. Other days' activities this week centered on map reading and trail finding, setting up camp and cooking.

SWINGING BRIDGE — Bat Patrol member Graham Luce, 13, of Troop 25, rides across a small stream in a pioneer version of a suspension bridge, with other scouts tugging ropes to swing the platform from one bank to the other. From left are Tom Patterson, 13, of Troop 40; Karol Bosworth, 13, of Troop 73;

Eric Mueller, 14, of Troop 142; Luce; Brian Best, 14, of Troop 74, and Bruce Lowry, 13, of Troop 48. The scouts will take the leadership and learning motivation methods they learned back to their own troops to help adults train and manage the troops.

$170,000 Contract is Signed For Petaluma General Hospital

Petaluma Hospital District directors yesterday signed a contract for the purchase of Petaluma General Hospital for $170,000.

Of that amount $20,000 was to cover expenses incurred by Petaluma General and National Medical Enterprises, a corporation in partnership with it.

The expenses stem from a suit, still pending, against the state for its denial of a license to Petaluma General.

The hospital district directors, who supervise operation of the 57-bed Hillcrest Hospital, have sought purchase of privately owned Petaluma General for the last 11 months.

Dr. Frederick A. Groverman, president of the hospital district directors, said the purchase agreement was "a giant step forward in the consolidation of medical care for residents of the area."

Petaluma General, with its 33-bed capacity, will be jointly operated as part of Hillcrest. Directors have not yet decided on the allocation of services between the two facilities, Groverman said.

The Sonoma County Comprehensive Health Planning Council in early 1973 denied both hospitals permission to build larger facilities and directed them to cooperate in organizing a single facility so medical care in Southern Sonoma could be improved.

Hospital district treasurer E. William Schneider said funds for the purchase were set aside a year ago when the directors committed themselves to seeking the purchase.

Teachers In Novato Upset By Negotiator

The Novato Teachers Association yesterday complained that the Novato Unified School District board has hired a part-time negotiator from a school district the association regards as substandard.

As a result negotiations are stalled, the association claimed.

Jerrold Moore, association president, said the district's negotiator, Keith Breen, has attended only two of the four sessions "and was forced to leave one because of a prior commitment," Moore said.

Breen is superintendent of the Jefferson Elementary School District "which itself is condemned by the California Teachers Association as substandard in conditions for learning and teaching," Moore said.

Negotiations could be settled speedily by a conscientious effort to reach agreement and teachers are willing to meet "even on a 12 or 24-hour basis" to arrive at agreement by May 15, Moore said.

Proposed Budget For Ross Carries More Street Funds

Spending by the street and parks and boulevards departments could increase by more than $5,000 each over last year the Ross Town Council was told last night at a preliminary reading of the 1974-75 budget.

The list of suggested spending, which does not include cost-of-living salary increases, also reflects only a slight increase in the storm drains and flood control budget, councilman Jewell Osterloh told the council.

The proposed street department budget, up $5,425 from $35,044 this year, includes $2,000, an amount to be accumulated annually in a reserve fund for improvements and $823 for an asphalt packing machine.

Parks and boulevards spending, totaling $44,408 compared to $39,457 this year, includes approximately $2,000 for light fixtures on the Commons and $1,000 for landscaping improvements at Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and Bolinas Avenue.

The storm drain and flood control is estimated at $26,886, up from $25,771 this year.

The town council set an open house for April 27 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at town hall for a public preview of preliminary architectural drawings on Ross Town Park.

A public hearing on further ideas on planning the 1.6-acre park will be scheduled at the May 9 council meeting.

The Ross Town Council Also:

HOURS — Unanimously — with Mayor Frederick S. Allen absent — approved a permit for Nikita Van Beek to extend hours of operation and to serve wine and beer at a French restaurant at 9 Poplar Avenue.

BIKES — Unanimously approved raising the bicycle licensing fee from $1 to $1.25.

DOGS — Decided not to increase the dog license period to two years and increase fees.

BICENTENNIAL — Appointed

councilman Roy Farrington Jones to the county bicentennial committee.

MEETING — Adjourned in the memory of Jones' father, Farrington L. Jones, who died last Friday.

Night Planned For Candidates

The Marin County Farm Bureau will be among West Marin organizations sponsoring a county candidates night at 8 p.m. next Friday at West Marin School, Point Reyes Station.

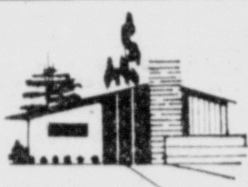

Candidates for county clerk, district attorney and superintendent of schools have been invited to appear.

Farm Bureau directors yesterday nominated Charles Spalletta for appointment to the Marin County Manpower Planning Council.

Class Of 1924 Plans Reunion

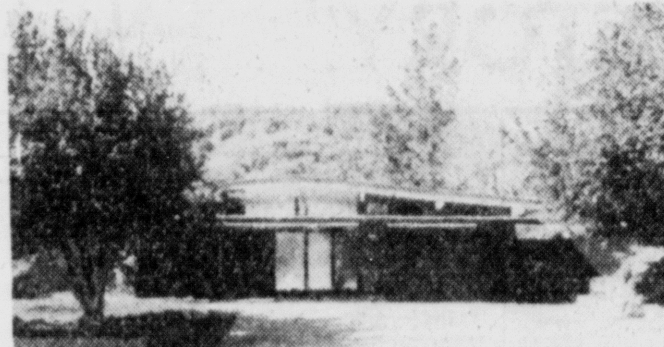

The 50th reunion of the San Rafael High School Class of 1924 will be held at 6:30 p.m. May 18 at the San Rafael Elks Club.

Many graduates of the 60-member class have already pledged to attend, according to Warren H. Williams, who urged classmates to contact him at P.O. Box 191, San Rafael.

NOTICE OF REVENUE LIMIT ELECTION IN THE SAN ANSELMO SCHOOL DISTRICT

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN to the qualified electors of the SAN ANSELMO SCHOOL DISTRICT of Marin County, California, that in accordance with law an election will be held on the 4th day of June, 1974, in said District, between the hours of 7 o'clock A.M. and 8 o'clock P.M., during which period and between which hours the polls shall remain open, at which election there will be submitted the following measure:

"Shall there be authorized an increase of the revenue limit per unit of average daily attendance to be effective in the San Anselmo School District for an indefinite period, commencing with the 1974-75 school year, in an amount to be determined each year by the revenue per unit of average daily attendance which will be derived from a tax levy of twenty cents ($.20) per one hundred dollars ($100) of assessed valuation of property, the revenues of which are to be used for general operating purposes?"

The revenue limit per unit of average daily attendance will be increased hereby during the 1974-75 school year from approximately $1183.29 to $1243.73, resulting from an increase to the maximum tax rate of the San Anselmo School District of twenty cents ($.20) which for fiscal year 1974-75 is an estimated increase from $2.251 to $2.451 for each one hundred dollars ($100) of assessed valuation of property.

Bad Crime Recidivism Rate Is Low

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Justice Department study shows that federal prison inmates who serve time for serious crimes have some of the best records of going straight after their release.

A study of records achieved by 1,800 inmates in the first two years after they were released in 1970 does not suggest the reason. Federal prisons director Norman Carlson said the causes are still being studied.

While on the average two out of every three prisoners — 66 per cent — stayed out of trouble after their release, the rate of post-release successes for those who served time for assault was 75 per cent.

Generally, the record was better than average also for those who had served time for other serious crimes such as robbery and narcotics. Their records were better than those who had served time for less serious crimes such as car theft.

As a group, older inmates did better than younger ones. Women did better than men. Whites did better than members of minority races — a showing that Carlson speculated was related to job opportunities.

Carlson said the 66 per cent success record was 2 per cent better than one found in a similar private study conducted over 10 years ago among federal inmates who had been released in 1956.

Carlson said the present record would be even better if it included the "good risk" wrongdoers who are diverted from the prison system entirely into various rehabilitation programs that did not exist in the 1950s.

Attorney General William B. Saxbe said the new study "certainly refutes charges we keep hearing" about backsliding rates of 70 or 80 per cent for all prison systems.

New Disaster Bill Clears The House

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House has approved a new disaster relief bill that would provide additional federal relief for communities hit by tornadoes and other natural disasters.

The measure, passed on voice vote yesterday, would authorize grants of up to $5,000 to persons whose homes were damaged by natural calamities.

Checking A Child's Aggressiveness

By WILLIAM HELTON
SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Those happy faces of little boys watching gunfire and other television violence may be masking hidden aggressions, a study of 5-and-6-year-olds indicates.

In contrast, boys who looked pained or disinterested while watching television mayhem were more helpful to others later, says a report by three University of California psychologists.

"Youngsters who looked happy while watching television violence did indeed aggress more," said Dr. Randall Harrison, of the university's department of psychiatry.

"This may be a good way to find out if kids are aggressive."

Harrison added in an interview Wednesday.

Randall emphasized the study, reported in the April issue of the California Medical Journal, did not mean that television caused the aggressive behavior in children.

Exploring that question will be one of the objectives of a similar study he and two other psychologists — Dr. Paul Ekman and Dr. Wallace V. Friesen — are planning.

"We want to see if we can duplicate our earlier finding and try to get more information on why the happy children tend to be aggressive," Harrison said. "We don't know if it is a temporary thing or if it has to do with such factors as personality and family background."

The psychologists studied the reactions of 30 boys and girls to film clips taken from television shows. Harrison said they were from "adventure-type" programs, but would not disclose specific titles.

A group of 30 judges decided whether the children showed happy, pained or disinterested emotions while watching the violence. The children were then placed in a game situation designed to reveal their aggressive or altruistic tendencies.

BEST SHOWS FOR TONIGHT

Marin Hairdresser Put On Probation By Board

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — The California Board of Cosmetology has temporarily suspended the licenses of Mill Valley hairdresser Stephen A. Ball and of his shop, the Organic Hair Care Center at 138 East Blithedale Avenue and placed both Ball and the shop on probation.

James B. Margetts, secretary to the board, said the suspensions were ordered April 4 following board hearings that found Ball had given fraudulent information on his license applications. Ball failed to report his prior conviction on an offense which the Business and Professions code requires be reported, Margetts explained.

Ball's license was suspended for 60 days, but 50 days of the suspension was stayed and he was placed on two years' probation. The shop also received a 60-day license suspension, but 55 days were stayed with two years' probation.

Weed Proposes Freedom Flight In Gaining Release Of Patricia

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The fiancée of Patricia Hearst proposed last night that the Symbionese Liberation Army be allowed to fly her to a foreign country and there negotiate her release.

"I would like to see them demand a plane out of the country, take some money with them ... and set up a line of communication in some other country," said Steven Weed in an interview on KQED, a San Francisco television station.

He said he had been working on the plan for several weeks, but he did not spell out the details. The FBI acknowledged last week the Hearst family was considering such a plan.

Weed also said Miss Hearst "is being set up in some cruel way."

"The SLA, if not planning to kill her themselves ... then they're planning to get her in a situation with the FBI where she might get killed."

Miss Hearst said in a tape recorded message received April 3 that she was joining the underground terrorist group. Weed said he was "suspicious" and "stunned."

"This whole thing is a cruel hoax being played on her," the blond, mustachioed graduate student said. "Either she's dead or will be soon."

Weed, 26, is a philosophy student at the University of California in Berkeley, where he and Miss Hearst lived before she was abducted Feb. 4.

Weed, in an earlier interview, said the escape proposal had been discussed "quite a bit, actually," by the Hearst family. "But I can't say too much about it right now because it's not really our decision. The SLA has to decide how they want to get out of this. All we can do is try to cover the possibilities."

Charles Bates, FBI agent in charge of the investigation, said he would not rule out the possibility Miss Hearst would be released in a foreign country.

Another television station, KGO, reported last night that Weed would soon reveal a letter from a "revolutionary in Mexico" addressed to the SLA and Miss Hearst.

The station said the letter was given to Weed by a French newsmen who has close ties with South American radicals. Weed was not immediately available for comment on the report, which did not disclose details of the letter.

Miss Hearst's parents, Randolph A. Hearst, president and editor of the San Francisco Examiner, and his wife Catherine, were resting at Las Cruces, south of La Paz, Mexico.

10 Weeks Was Enough Of Kahn

Although the suddenness of the Great Milt Kahn Firing made some observers believe it was a sudden decision on the part of the KPIX and CBS brass, this was not the case.

It is true there was a heated discussion going on last Tuesday afternoon between Kahn and KPIX executives just before the announcement was made that he had been fired. But topic of the conversation had more to do with the settlement of Kahn's contract, I am told by inside sources.

The decision to fire Kahn came from the CBS New York office and it had been made weeks ago when it was apparent he was doing much more to hurt the KPIX ratings than to help them. KPIX people had been talking to ex-footballer Wayne Walker for the past two weeks, but he didn't sign his letter of contractual agreement to take the job, starting April 29, until 11 a.m. last Tuesday. About 3:30 that afternoon, when Kahn arrived at the KPIX studios, he was informed that his services were no longer needed. Then came the heated discussions behind closed doors.

The surprising thing is that Kahn lasted as long as he did, 10 weeks. I would have thought the station's execs might realize he was in the wrong field much sooner. He was literally a rookie in the TV game since the KPIX sports directorship was his first television job.

But who knows? Maybe he'll go back to Los Angeles and become an instant success. In L.A., anything is possible; he and southern California are meant for each other. But one thing is certain: there were no tears spilled by the KPIX workers, from the secretaries to the exec types, when Milt got the axe.

Said one: "There was such an overwhelming negative response to him . . . not only the viewers, but the advertisers."

His 10 weeks of mistakes and confusion was probably topped off by his last telecast, Monday evening, when he declared that Babe Ruth had hit his 715th home run. That one had the station's directors walking around shaking their heads. Or how Kahn himself would say it: Milt Kahn — Really!

IN THE SWIM: It seems all our best female swimmers have learned from the East Germans. After the East German girls did so well in recent meets wearing new skintight swim suits, the U.S. gals realized they would have to get in style.

At the National Amateur Athletic Union swim meet going on at Dallas, most of the top American girls are wearing the new-look suits which reveal every curve and muscle in detail.

The new suits have been developed from nylon fiber with rubber injected into it. They have high necks so the weater can't get inside. Tests have shown that the old suits dragged a gallon of water inside the front, and that keeps the times down.

It really helped Sue King, a member of the Novato Aquanauts, who is in Dallas. She tried one of the new suits and trimmed more than seven seconds from her time in the 200-yard butterfly, making her the No. 5 seed in today's event in Dallas.

Said Keena Rothhammer, one of the U.S. Olympic stars: "It means a lot to our girls, particularly those who have lost a gold medal by one thousandth of a second. We were so far behind the times. It was like we were wearing some kind of old dance costume or something. The only thing that could be better would be to swim nude. We've been so hard up for spectators that might not be a bad idea, either."

I guess a little wet streaking wouldn't be too far out of line.

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UPI) — The Masters leaders read more like who's that than who's who, but Jack Nicklaus is right where you'd expect him to be—close at hand.

The pacesetter, going into today's second round, is a stumpy Kansan named Jim Colbert who is relatively unknown despite having won three tournaments in nine years on the Professional Golfers Association tour.

The three runnerups—Hubert Green, Hale Irwin and Don Iverson—are pretty much in the same boat. Green still has trouble getting people to spell his name correctly. Even though he won the Bob Hope Classic at Jacksonville earlier this year, people kept mistaking him for Bert Greene, also in this tournament.

Colbert, who has won less than $14,000 so far this year, closed strong in yesterday's opening round to post a 5-under-par 67, the first time he had broken par in three Masters' appearances.

Green, Irwin and Iverson all had 68s, with Irwin getting his by running off a string of five straight birdies on the back nine of the sun-swept Augusta National Course.

But all four had to be uneasy. Nicklaus, four-time champion and pre-tournament favorite, was only two strokes off the pace—and that's because he missed a number of the sort of putts he usually makes with ease.

"Early in the round, I wasn't

Sports

Independent-Journal, 33 Friday, April 12, 1974

aggressive enough with my putting," said Nicklaus. "I missed some silly little putts. But, I would have been satisfied with my round if I hadn't bogeyed 18 (where he missed a 12-footer)."

Nicklaus made it clear he expects conditions to favor him over those ahead of him the next three days.

"If the greens speed up, as expected, it will favor the better, more experienced players," said Nicklaus. And, who fits that bill more than he?

Colbert, delighted last year to make the cut here, said he felt playing in two previous Masters helps his chances this time.

The 32-year-old Colbert had six birdies and only one bogey in yesterday's round. But he felt the birdies at Nos. 12 and 13 were the key to his round. he shot a 67 "even in practice."

Ray Floyd, Gene Littler, Dan Sikes and Frank Beard—all better known than the leaders—were tied with Nicklaus at 3 under par. Billy Casper and Art Wall, a pair of veteran former champions, were in a group at 70 and Gary Player, only foreigner ever to win the Masters (1961), and Tom Weiskopf were in another group at 71 as 21 out of 78 starters broke par.

Sam Snead, who admits he'll be 62 next month, shot an even par 72 and was furious at himself for missing five putts under eight feet. "It's the same old thing," fumed Snead, a three-time Masters champion. "You've got to make those short putts if you want to win around here."

Arnold Palmer, still the darling of the Masters' gallery even though his game is fading at 44, shot a 4-over-par 76 and defending champion Tommy Aaron, who has not played well since winning here last year, was another stroke back at 77.

The field will be cut to the low 44 scorers and ties after today's second round. The weatherman predicted a chance of afternoon showers but had a better forecast for tomorrow and Sunday, when sunny skies are predicted.

SAND STORM — Golfer John Mahaffey was hidden by a spray of sand after blasting out of a trap on the second hole yesterday.

Manager Dark Listens To A's Complaints

OAKLAND (AP) — Manager Alvin Dark listened to gripes from his Oakland A's players before bringing the team home.

But the new manager of baseball's world champions has no gripes himself.

"We've played good ball. We were just unfortunate enough to run into two real tough pitchers," Dark said before the A's got reacquainted with the Oakland Coliseum in a practice session today.

The A's will take a 3-2 record into their home opener tomorrow at 1:30 p.m., when Vida Blue will start against the Texas Rangers' Jim Bibby.

The only losses so far were to Texas' Ferguson Jenkins, who shut out the A's on two hits, and Kansas City's Steve Busby, who stopped them 4-1 Wednesday night on four hits.

Jenkins will be one of the Rangers' pitchers Sunday in a doubleheader. Dark will start Jim "Catfish" Hunter and John Odum.

Deron Johnson, Gene Tenace and Billy North are off to slow starts. But the hitting of Reggie Jackson, Joe Rudi and Sal Bando has been strong.

No A's pitcher has a complete game victory yet. Starters Blue, Hunter and Ken Holtzman complained to Dark in Kansas City that he was taking them out of games too quickly.

"The only 20-game winners on this ballclub this year will be relievers," Holtzman said before the meeting with the manager.

Rudi, batting .555 so far, was lifted for pinch running specialist Herb Washington after hitting a single in Texas.

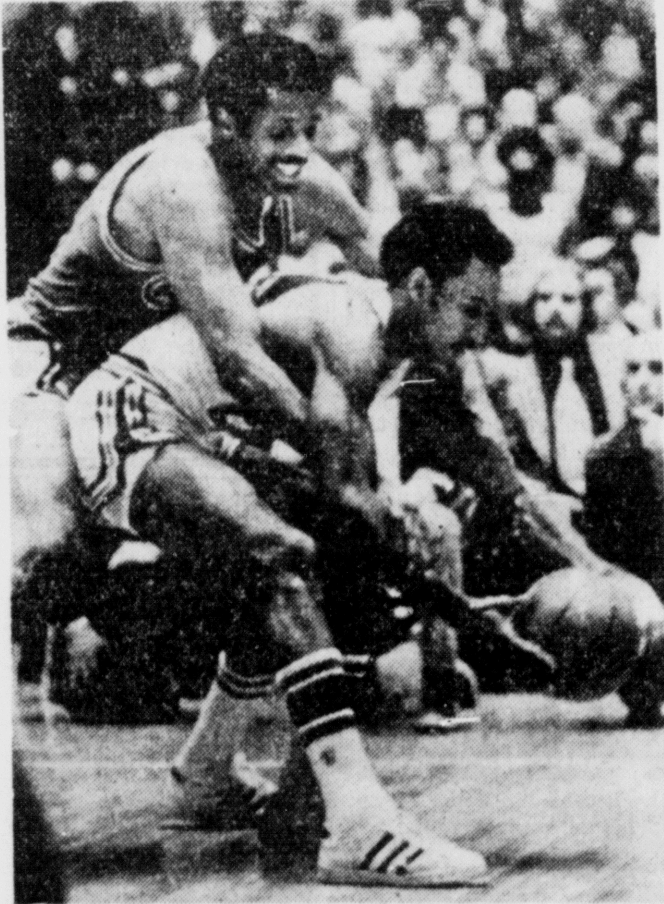

"You can tell everyone that I'm not stopping at first anymore. I'm going to second. You can print that. Everyone else around here speaks out. I'm not scared," Rudi told a writer.

Finley had asked Dark to use Washington in the Texas game.

An Oakland newspaper columnist wrote this week, "No wonder the A's are openly rebellious. They know the man in charge has no authority."

Dark said today, "To tell you the truth, I try not to read the newspaper stories. I just read the boxscores."

And so far, the boxscores read okay. Last year's Oakland team got off to a 1-5 start and didn't reach .500 until May 6.

AGGRESSIVE PLAY — Chicago's Chet Walker was called for a foul after he tried to go over the back of Detroit's Dave Bing to steal the basketball. Action took place last night in Detroit. (UPI Telephoto)

NBA Bulls May Play Without Guard Sloan

DETROIT (UPI) — Chicago is faced with the prospect of playing tomorrow's deciding seventh playoff game with Detroit minus key guard Jerry Sloan.

Nobody wants him and the other injured Bulls, Norm Van Lier, Clifford Ray and Bob Love, to be healthy more than Coach Ray Scott of the Pistons.

Detroit forced the winner-advances match by riding the hot fourth-quarter shooting of Bob Lanier and George Trapp to a 92-88 sixth-game victory last night over the Bulls.

The victor in tomorrow afternoon's nationally televised affair meets the Bucks in Milwaukee on Tuesday night in the start of the semifinal round of the National Basketball Association playoffs.

In tonight's playoff action, the Capital Bullets are in New York to face the Knicks in the deciding game of their best-of-seven series and Boston is at Buffalo holding a 3-2 lead in games over the Braves.

Sloan, the Bulls' 6-foot-5 guard who has been hurting the Pistons with his rebounding and outside shooting, suffered an ankle injury that may be severe enough to knock him out of the final game. It was so bad he couldn't walk to the shower after the game.

"It's serious," Bulls Coach Dick Motta said. "He ripped it up bad. We lost three starters in a span of three minutes (of the fourth quarter). I've never had a team hurt like that."

"Why would I want to play against them if they got beat and it could be said that they were hurt?" Scott said. "I think we're going to win and I want them healthy."

Sloan suffered the injury coming down with a rebound and apparently aggravated it during the fourth quarter. His running mate, Van Lier, sprained an ankle but it did not appear bad enough to prevent him from playing.

Ray banged up a knee and Love, who only made two of his last 19 shots, suffered a bruised arm.

Chicago had the game's high scorer last night in Chet Walker with 33 points but the next highest for the Bulls was Love, who only had 14.

Riessen Triumphs

MONTE CARLO (UPI) — Marty Riessen upset fourth seed Cliff Drysdale of South Africa 7-5, 6-3 today to reach the semifinals of the $50,000 Monte Carlo open tennis tournament.

DALLAS — Three Marin Aquatic Club swimmers recorded their personal bests yesterday at the National Amateur Athletic Union meet. (Another AAU swim meet story on page 34.)

Jo Hislop clipped two seconds off her 200-yard freestyle when she finished 37th out of 100 swimmers in 1:55.4. Maura Campion, who set a Pacific Association AAU record in the 100-yard butterfly Wednesday, took 3½ seconds off her best 400 individual medley time yesterday when she clocked 4:41.4 in placing 27th out of 69 entrants. Art Morrill was 21st out of 54 swimmers in the Men's 400 I.M., his 4:09.4 three seconds better than he has ever done.

Ann Haley of the Novato Aquanauts was 84th out of 100 swimmers in the 200 free, a time of 1:58.7. A 400-yard medley relay team from the Petaluma Swim Club (Laura Dumont, April Swanson, Cookie Arrighi and Mary Taylor) finished 68th out of 72 with a time of 4:15.3.

Robin Backhaus and Rick DeMont, two members of the Marin Aquatic Club competing at the nationals for University of Washington, continued to earn points for their school. Robin was fifth in the Men's 200-yard free, 1:40.1, and Rick was seventh in the 400 I.M., 4:02.6.

The nationals continue through tomorrow.

AMERICAN LEAGUE ROUNDUP

Coleman A Forgotten Man

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL
Public recognition keeps eluding Joe Coleman.
Over the last three years there have been few pitchers as effective as the 27-year-old Coleman, yet the Detroit Tigers' right-hander gets nowhere near the publicity given other prominent American League hurlers like Mickey Lolich, Jim Palmer, Catfish Hunter or Nolan Ryan.

For example, during the last three seasons Coleman has won 62 games, which is only one less than Lolich, Palmer and Hunter and 12 more than Ryan. Yet, despite these impressive statistics, Coleman remains a forgotten man in the eyes of most of the baseball public.

Coleman had a spectacular chance to lose that stigma and gain instant national acclaim Thursday when he came within five outs of pitching the first no-hitter by a Detroit pitcher in Tiger Stadium since 1952. But, alas, he was forced to settle for a two-hitter as he pitched the Tigers to a 4-1 victory over the New York Yankees.

The last Tiger pitcher to toss a no-hitter in Tiger Stadium was Virgil Trucks on May 15, 1952, against Washington, and Coleman lost his chance with one out in the eighth when light-hitting Gene Michael slapped a 3-2 pitch up the middle for a single. Coleman even lost his UNUSUAL PICKOFF TRY — Detroit first baseman Norm Cash deftly fielded a low pickoff throw (top photo) from the pitcher. shutout in the ninth when Roy White hit a leadoff homer for the Yankees' only other hit.

Brewers 7, Indians 6
John Briggs drove in three runs with a single and a homer as the Milwaukee Brewers handed the Cleveland Indians their fifth straight defeat.

Orioles 7, Red Sox 6
Second baseman Doug Griffin's throwing error on a potential double play ball allowed Ellie Hendricks to score the winning run in the 11th inning. The Boston Red Sox had tied the game in the last of the 10th at 6-6 on Juan Beniquez' home run, but Baltimore's Hendricks singled to open the Orioles' 11th, moved to second when Rich Coggins walked and scored when Griffin botched the relay portion of a routine double play grounder.

Angels 11, Rangers 8
Lee Stanton, Frank Robinson and Mike Epstein paced a 15-hit attack with home runs as the California Angels posted their fourth win in five games. Bill Singer, a 20-game winner last year, went 7 1/3 innings to notch his first win of the season against Texas.

Twins 4, White Sox 4
Bobby Darwin drove in three of Minnesota's runs with a triple and a single and Ron Santo drove in a pair of runs for the Chicago White Sox before the rain made the field unplayable. The game will count toward individual player records but will be replayed in its entirety at a later date. Petaluma's Joe Decker pitched for Minnesota.

LITTLE LEAGUE TOMORROW

San Geronimo Valley Little League play begins tomorrow, 10 a.m., at Rancho Nicasio Field.

Nine teams (four majors, five minors) will participate. Some 175 players will perform; no formal ceremonies, such as parades, are planned.

Major league games at Rancho are slated at 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. Minor openers start at 10 a.m. at the Woodacre Improvement Club and Point Reyes School.

Ukiah Grabs Tournament Title; San Rafael Third

SANTA ROSA — Ukiah High School has won the championship trophy of the Santa Rosa Invitational Baseball Tournament.

Ukiah took the title last night with a 2-1 victory over Vallejo. Outfielder Tom Walker's two-run homer provided the margin of victory for pitcher Dan Burton who hurled a two-hitter and struck out 12 Vallejo batters. That pair won the outstanding hitter and pitcher awards.

San Rafael High School

grabbed third place in the tourney with a 2-0 victory over Vintage High of Napa; Kennedy of Fremont won fourth with a 7-5 win over Novato, and Napa claimed the consolation crown by blasting Rancho Cotate, 18-2.

For San Rafael, Mike Ferris pitched his second shutout of the tournament, his first one a 4-0 job against Napa in the opener. Yesterday, he threw a two-hitter against Vintage, striking out 12 and walking just one. San Rafael center fielder Matt Dockstader doubled in the team's first run during the second inning, and first baseman Tim Madera singled in the second run in the third.

Kennedy had 10 hits against Novato pitchers Fred Conte and Marty Rojas. Conte was the loser. First baseman-outfielder Jeff Pond ended up batting .500 for the tourney, six hits in 12 at bats.

Napa bombed Rancho Cotate pitching for 12 hits and was helped by nine Rancho errors in that 18-2 slaughter.

Babashoff Upset By Young Phenom

DALLAS (UPI) — Another young sensation popped up from the seemingly unlimited depths of America's swimming talent and put a dent in the Shirley Babashoff show last night.

Jennie Franks, 15, a high school sophomore from Wilmington, Del., survived a last leg rush from Miss Babashoff to set an American record in the 400-yard individual medley during the second night of action in the National Amateur Athletic Union Swimming Championship.

Her time of 4:26.22 broke the record set in 1973 by Australian Shane Gould.

"I didn't think I was capable of swimming that fast," said Miss Franks, who has appeared in only two other national meets. "I didn't think of winning. I just swam."

Miss Babashoff, however, set an American record in the 200-yard freestyle event with a 1:48.79 clocking to go with the 500-yard American record she set on Wednesday night.

In the two individual men's events last night the American records withstood an assault which has seen 10 such marks fail in two days of swimming.

Kurt Krumpoltz of Santa Clara won the men's 200-yard freestyle race and Rick Golella of Seattle captured the 400-yard individual medley in the time of 3:57.19.

American records were also set in both the men's and women's 400 yard medley relays last night. The women's event was taken by the Santa Clara Swim Club and the men's by the University of Southern California.

NATIONAL LEAGUE ROUNDUP

Murtaugh Starts Worrying About Pirates

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL
Nonchalant Danny Murtaugh, the manager who's partial to rocking chairs, sometimes looks as if he posed for those "what, me worry?" posters.

But even Murtaugh is starting to get just a bit worried about the Pittsburgh Pirates' shaky start this season.

Murtaugh keeps insisting the Pirates need just one victory to get started.

The Pirates, though, are having all kinds of trouble getting it. You'd never know they're supposed to be the team to beat in the National League's Eastern Division.

They stretched their perfect record last night. They've played four games and lost them all.

Steve Rogers, who was so impressive in the second half of last season for Montreal after being called up from the minors, tossed a six-hitter at the heavy-hitting Pirates for a 5-1 triumph.

"It sure would help to get that first win," Murtaugh said. "I think that's all we need to turn this thing around. I can't remember getting off to a worse start but I don't really have any records to back me up."

In the other games, St. Louis swept a doubleheader from the New York Mets 8-7 and 4-3, Chicago downed Philadelphia 4-3, Atlanta beat Los Angeles 6-4 and Houston routed San Diego 9-1.

Braves 6, Dodgers 4
Hank Aaron hit his 716th homer to highlight a three-run seventh inning rally and lift the Atlanta Braves past the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Cards 8-4, Mets 7-3
The first game was supposed to be a Tom Seaver-Bob Gibson duel. But the St. Louis Cards routed New York's Seaver, staking Gibson to a 6-0 lead only to have him blow it before the Cards scored two unearned runs in the eighth to pull it out. St. Louis rallied for two runs in the ninth inning of the second for the triumph.

Cubs 4, Phils 3
A two-run pinch homer by Tommy Hutton in the ninth lifted the Philadelphia Phils past Chicago.

Astros 9, Padres 1
New owner Ray Kroc may have been right — although he's since apologized — when he publicly blasted his team. The Padres seem to be worse than ever. They're now 0-6. The San Diego hitters have given up 52 runs and 80 hits in their first six games. Bob Watson's homer and two-run double led a 14-hit Houston attack.

Olbrantz Brothers Lead Suns' Victory
The Olbrantz brothers helped Marin Suns subdue Clobber, 2-1, last night in San Rafael Parks and Recreation Department adult softball league play at Albert Field.

Dave pitched a three-hitter, while his brother Dan contributed a triple and a single. In the only other game last night, SMB Fliers won by forfeit from First American Title.

'TOUCH OF MEDITERRANIA' — White stucco and blue tile roofs will add color to a new 72-unit condominium development called Sessions Rise in Terra Linda. One and two bedrooms units will sell for $28,950 to $44,950. Sales are handled exclusively by Ray L. Bennigson, realtor.

New Condominiums Going Up In Northgate Area

A new condominium development of 72 units, featuring white stucco with blue tile roofs, is under construction in the Northgate area of San Rafael, just north of Golden Venus Spa.

The $2,780,000 project, designed by Novato architect William Kelly & Associates, is at the end of Marin Center Drive on the east side of Highway 101, opposite the Northgate Shopping area. General contractor Ronald Antonioli is the developer.

Northgate Industrial Park, who is the exclusive sales agent, announced that the condominiums are selling for $28,950 to $44,950.

"Twelve white stucco buildings, topped with blue tile roofs, will soon bring a touch of Mediterranean to Terra Linda," said Bennigson. "It is a striking departure from the wood-earth color schemes so prevalent today."

Each building contains six units of one and two bedroom flats and townhouses, ranging in size from 800 square feet to 1,200 square feet. All units feature all electric kitchens including self-cleaning ovens, dishwashers, disposals and refuse compactors.

Design features include light shafts to illuminate the lower flats, red cedar decking and concrete patios, and many trees and planters for the courts and spaces between buildings.

To assist buyers with homes to sell, Bennigson said offers will be accepted subject to sale of buyer's property with reasonable time limits and releases.

Electronic Watches Are Becoming Big In Nation

NEW YORK — The latest craze in jewelry across the country is the super-accurate electronic watch.

Harry Weissberg of RCA's Solid State Division says that by 1980 at least one-third of world-wide watch production will involve quartz-crystal electronic designs, selling for as little as $25.

"The watch of the future will be much more than just a convenient timepiece," Weissberg said. "We should be able to expect watches that will warn us several days in advance of birthdays and anniversaries." He also foresaw watches that will display elapsed time, watches with automatic changes to adjust between daylight savings and standard times, and the increasing use of calendar watches that will automatically adjust to accommodate 28, 29, 30 or 31 days in a month.

The accuracies of electronic timekeeping, and particularly its insensitivity to temperature changes, have resulted in a surge of interest for electronic automobile clocks.

Phillips Florist On Fourth Will Make A Move Into New Location

Phillips Florist at 710 Fourth Street in San Rafael, which has been there for about 16 years, will move next month to 891 Fourth Street, corner of Fourth and Loutens Place.

The flower shop will share the old Gallenkamp shoe store location with Peters Studio of Photography, which moved there last month from its former location at 1214 Second Street.

Phillips Florist, located next to La Petite Auberge restaurant, is owned by W. F. (Will) Eisert and his wife Gerry of Greenbrae, who bought it a year and a half ago from Earl Messner. Eisert, who has been in the florist business for about 20 years, said he plans to move into the new location sometime in May.

A POOL PURIFIER called the Silverator, which makes pool water as pure as drinking water without the use of chlorine, is being sold by a new San Rafael firm called American Distribution Co. Heading the firm is Frederick F. Babo of American Realty of Marin, 1017 D Street, San Rafael, who has been a real estate broker for 30 years in Marin.

Silverator, the automatic purifier, is based on principles used by NASA to purify waste water in space, said Babo. "It uses no electricity, is reasonably priced, quickly installed, and more economical to operate than conventional chemical methods." He said the canister purifier attaches to a pool's circulating system and is good for two to four years without recharging.

RENA SIEBOLDT of San Rafael was appointed this week as manager of First American Title Co. of Marin's new Southern Marin office at 36 Tiburon Boulevard, Mill Valley. It is located in suite 5 of the Brockmann Building. Secretary in the new office is Myra Hardwick of San Anselmo.

Mrs. Sieboldt has been in the title business for 20 years, the last nine years with Pacific Coast Title Co. she is past president of the Marin charter chapter of the American Business Women's Association.

AN ESCORT SERVICE for men or women who want a personally guided tour or an evening of dining out is now available in San Rafael.

Barbara Austin, who started the Executive Singles Directory of Marin (selective dating service) in February, announced she is adding the Executive Escort Service to the company. "Suppose you have an out-of-town guest who wants a tour of San Francisco," said Mrs. Austin. "Just call us, and we'll provide the escorts, men or women, and the transportation."

The tour escort service will be for individuals or small groups. Those who want the service should call Executive Singles Directory.

"SONOMA REVIEW" a new literary quarterly edited and published by Joe Jeremy of Petaluma, will be hitting Marin news stands this weekend.

Serendipity Couriers of Sausalito is handling the distribution of the 32-page magazine of poetry and prose in Marin and Sonoma Counties. "The aim of the magazine is to give writers, who otherwise would not be, a chance to be published," said Jeremy, who graduated from Sonoma State College in 1971. He said the first issue contains prose and poetry from Northern California writers, but subsequent issues will also contain graphics and book reviews. Mailing address of "Sonoma Review" is Post Office Box 1016, Petaluma.

THE ANDREWS AGENCY Inc. of San Francisco, headed by President Richard R. Andrews of Tiburon, has been named to handle advertising and promotion for Stretch & Sew Inc. of Eugene, Ore., which specializes in knit fabrics and knit sewing techniques.
